A Bit of B.C. at the CNE

Public Works Minister W. S. Chant and Mrs. Chant were among guests at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto Monday when British Columbia Day was celebrated. They are seen here standing before the B.C. arch on the Avenue of the Provinces, the main boulevard of the exhibition grounds. Flanking them on left and right respectively are F. T. Walsh, CNE first vice-president, and Col. Mackenzie Waters, an exhibition director.

On Nine Issues

Majority Favors Policies

This is the third of a series of articles by Daily Colonist legislative reporter Ray Baines on B.C.'s political situation and relative popularity of the parties. They are the result of poll of 10 ridings taken in May by a public opinion firm, plus a fact-finding tour by Mr. Baines during the summer.

BY RAY BAINES

Only a very small percentage of persons questioned in a public opinion poll of 10 ridings last May expressed disapproval with provincial government policy on nine major issues.

Even with percentages weighted to account for the ridings not polled, dissatisfaction averaged about 8 percent, satisfaction 49 percent and "no opinion" about 35 percent.

The U.S. public opinion firm polled 1,400 persons in 10 "key ridings" and weighted answers to make up for the limited coverage of British Columbia. On this particular question the weighting procedure generally lowered the percentages expressing both satisfaction and dissatisfaction and increased the "no opinion" totals.

The survey organization noted that the "no opinion" people could obviously go either way if asked to vote in an election involving any or all of the issues in question, but the fact that they expressed no opinion could denote tacit approval.

The nine subjects on which the 1,400 persons were questioned were highways, the sales tax revision (increase from 3 to 5 percent), workmen's compensation, the extension of the PGE, labor legislation (introduction of an entirely new Labor Relations Act), forest management licences, liquor legislation and the 10 percent tax on the logging and mining industry.

No public opinion poll ever has been, or ever will be completely accurate. Most are accomplished merely by sampling. This mathematical principle, however, has proved in the past to be a fairly good indication of how things will go in a future election.

If the results are very close, a poll is unreliable. The margin of error is about the same then as the difference of opinion. The famed case of the presidential election in which Mr. Truman was counted out by the Gallup organization but elected by the voters is an example of the unreliability when there is a 48-52 kind of result.

But when results are overwhelmingly one way or the other, there is plenty of room for error. The survey team which conducted the B.C. poll felt pretty safe in concluding that approval far outweighed disapproval of government policy on the nine issues.

'Funny Money'

This reporter found a similar situation in a casual one-man kind of questionnaire during the summer. Most people I spoke to expressed approval of most government policies. Some had individual complaints—the equalization of assessments for example—in their own communities.

One citizen in Vernon said many Canadian Legion clubs were annoyed about liquor legislation which prevented them from having bars at public functions, one of their chief sources of revenue.

Many didn't like Social Credit because they were afraid of "funny money." They didn't know quite what it was but they felt tampering with the monetary system was a bad thing.

Often the local impact of government policy was of more concern than the over-all effect. This had some amusing results.

Several people who said they were Liberals on Vancouver Island, for example, considered the proposed suspension bridge across Okanagan lake at Kelowna a purely political move by Premier Bennett to curry favor in his own riding.

But a Liberal in Kelowna told me the bridge was a good thing, that it was needed, that the present ferry service was losing enormous amounts of money. But he felt reconstruction of the road along Kalamalka lake between Vernon and Kelowna should take precedence over the one being constructed into Kamloops.

The U.S. survey team found a great variety in the reasons for the answers given. They, of course, concluded that this did not make any difference to the percentages. How a man marks his ballot is of more consequence than why.

Some of the most consistent were the CCF supporters. They usually expressed belief in the fundamental ideas of socialism while many of the Social Credit supporter just liked the men in government and the things they were doing.

But it was interesting in the results of the U.S. poll to see what knowledge the respondents had of alternatives offered by other parties. Asked what changes the CCF would make, 17 per cent said socialism, others gave various reasons but 64 per cent had no opinion.

In the case of the Liberals, 2 per cent said they would repeat their past record, 17 per cent said they wouldn't make any changes and 72 per cent had no opinion, others

Britain Stands Fast

LONDON (CP) — Britain told Greece and Turkey Tuesday she intends to hold Cyprus as long as she has responsibility for defending the Middle East.

Diplomatic informants said this was the gist of a statement made by Britain's Harold Macmillan at a secret session of British, Greek and Turkish foreign ministers who are discussing the future of the east Mediterranean island. The informants included delegates who sat in on the talks.

In his speech, described as being conciliatory yet firm, Macmillan called on Stephen Stephenopolous of Greece and Fatin Rustu Zorlu of Turkey to seek a reconciliation of their attitudes on the Cyprus question.

"COMMON INTEREST"

The British foreign secretary said it is in the common interest of the three powers to work together if the Middle East is to be defended effectively against the possibility of external aggression and internal upheaval.

PARIS (Reuters) — France today will fly one of her toughest veterans of colonial wars into riot-racked Morocco to take over the post of resident-general vacated by Gilbert Grandval.

The choice, learned definitely Tuesday, is Gen. Pierre Boyer de la Tour, 59, resident-general in Tunisia, who 30 years ago, as a junior officer, led French soldiers in a Moroccan war to subdue rebellious Riff tribesmen.

As de la Tour said goodbye to the Bey of Tunis, the Paris government announced that France will mobilize another 180,000 servicemen in a buildup of defences in Morocco and adjoining Algeria, which was also rocked by a bloody rebellion 10 days ago.

Reinforcements were rushed into Casablanca Tuesday as new terrorist attacks and scattered acts of sabotage were reported.

In Rabat, terrorists set fire to a Moroccan house and two bodies were found in the charred ruins. At Port Lyautey, a pro-French truck driver was injured by a pistol shot.

What Will Irish Say?

DUBLIN (UP) — U.S. Congressman John E. Fogarty (D.-R.I.) said yesterday the United States had as much right to intervene on the partition of Ireland as it had in relation to "Korea, Germany, Austria or Egypt."

Police Seeking Man

Five Members of Family Shot To Death on Farm

Bullet-Pierced Bodies Found

MELVILLE, SASK. (CP) — Five members of one family were found shot to death on a farm at Fenwood, 22 miles west of this eastern Saskatchewan town Tuesday.

RCMP said they were seeking a man for questioning in connection with the multiple slaying.

Police found the bullet-pierced bodies of two women in the farm yard. The bodies of a father and his two children were found in the farm home.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Harry Petlock, 70, a widow; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Petlock and their two children, Diane, 3, and a year-old baby. The name of the infant was not immediately known.

Police said the bodies of the two victims were found buried near a pile of potatoes and covered with weeds, earth and sacks.

The man's body was found in the farm kitchen and those of the two children in the bedroom.

Police said a .22 calibre rifle was believed used in the multiple slayings.

Church Changes Name

EDMONTON (CP) — The Church of England in Canada Tuesday night officially became known as the Anglican Church.

The move was approved by both the upper and lower houses which met in joint session on the opening day of the general synod of the church.

Both houses voted down an amendment to have the name changed to the Episcopal Church of Canada.

Change of name of the Church of England emphasizes the Canadian aspect of the church, most Anglican clergymen in Victoria said last night.

Although a few said they would have preferred no change, majority agreed with Rev. Canon S. J. Wickens, who said: "We're all Canadians now."

He said he thought the "old guard, the conservative element" would have retained the English element, "but it seems the old generation is passing."

"I think it's a move to emphasize the fact the Church of England in Canada is not an immigrant church," said Rev. William Hills. "It's a national church, an autonomous church belonging to the Canadian people."

NEW YORK (AP) Twelve-year-old Gloria Lockerman, Baltimore's one-girl spelling bee, Tuesday night took the $16,000 she had won on a television quiz show and decided not to risk it for more.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Key, who made the decisions for Gloria on money questions, said "I think the Lord has been very, very good to Gloria, and I decided we would stop here."

Mercy Flight In Vain

(Special To The Colonist)

CAMPBELL RIVER — Michello Peteczuk, about 34, of Steveston, died just before reaching Loudes hospital last night several hours after an accident at Booth Logging Co. operations at Hayden bay, 32 miles northeast of here.

Peteczuk was severely crushed at 4 p.m. when a deck of lumber fell on him as he loaded a truck.

B.C. Airlines pilot Robert Croisdale flew Dr. B. J. Moloney to the camp. Peteczuk was still alive when the plane returned to Campbell River but he died in the ambulance en route to hospital.

RCMP will hold an inquest tomorrow.

Hat Saves a Life

Studying the hard hat that turned out to be a life-saver yesterday for Earl Bruce is H. M. Jones, Malahat. Bruce was struck on the head by a large rock that crashed down a steep slope while he was fighting a forest fire near the Malahat summit. The aluminum broke the force of the blow.

Second Blaze Confined

Winds Fan Fire To Raging Peak

Forestry workers, soldiers and volunteer helpers last night were battling to control a three-day-old fire that has roared through 40 acres of thickly-wooded country at Metchosin. A second blaze, in the Malahat area, is being confined.

Strong 35-mile-an-hour winds yesterday fanned smouldering embers into a raging inferno after the Metchosin fire, which flared up Sunday from an unknown cause, was believed under control.

The weather office reported at midnight that the winds had dropped to 20 miles an hour and were not expected to increase to about 25 until later today.

The Metchosin outbreak is on the farm of Gavin Weir.

Flames jumped the CNR track near the property and raced to within a few feet of Quarantine road before being turned back by soot-grimed firefighters.

CAMP GUARDED

Army personnel from Esquimalt garrison were rushed to the scene early yesterday. Replacements for the dog-tired men were recalled from theatres and city streets by patrols last night.

Volunteer residents and service men made up the bulk of the force fighting the outbreak last night, relieving tired forestry department workers, some of whom had been at the scene for 48 hours.

MALAHAT BLAZE

Stan Jones of Sooke, cat skinner for Butler Bros. Logging Co., in charge of the crew of forest fire fighters at the Malahat, said yesterday he felt the fire was well under control.

The blaze has swept over about 25 acres on the steep slope of the mountain leading to Saanich inlet.

However, while the day was considered successful as far as halting the blaze, it was marred by the injury of 265-pound logger Earl Bruce, 43, of Sooke.

He suffered a head gash and fractured shoulder after he was struck by a large fire-loosened rock which plunged down the steep slope. He plunged 50 feet after being hit.

Fourteen men hauled him up the steep mountain to a waiting ambulance which took him to St. Joseph's Hospital here.

OFFICIALS WORRIED

The forestry department is now requiring daily reports from district rangers all over the province in order to keep a close check on developments.

They said there is no thought of a general closure at present but the situation "has us a little worried."

Prison Beatings Charged

OTTAWA (CP) — Penitentiary prisoners have told the Canadian Bar Association that prisoners awaiting trial in Toronto's Don jail are beaten unmercifully because they will not confess.

The charge was included in a submission made Tuesday by the editorial board of The Telescope, the Kingston, Ont., penitentiary's monthly magazine, to the association's criminal law section.

Young Girl Slightly Hurt

Five-year-old Dianne Ball, 578 Menzies, was slightly bruised last night when she ran into the rear door of a car driven on Menzies by George Rafter, 991 Violet.

Puffing Pooch Passes But Punch Carries On

STAINFORTH, England (CP) — Mij, the dog domino champion of England, is dead.

The 10-year-old black Labrador, who invariably had a pipe dangling from her mouth, succumbed to pneumonia a few weeks before she and her son, Punch, where to appear on television.

Mij—Jim spelled backwards—was a truly talented animal with a number of tricks up her hairy sleeves.

She could solve simple mathematical problems, do card tricks, talk in her own way and beat all comers at a stick-picking game. She used to play dominos regularly with habitues of the district pubs, and in 1953 won the England dog domino championship against another canine wonder.

Mij died despite the use of oxygen equipment brought specially from Leeds, but Punch, 4, is showing signs of carrying on her work.

He can already play dominos "up to double three," indicate how old he is and joins in singing such ditties as "How much is that doggie in the window?" "Daddy won't buy me a bow-wow," and "Three blind mice."

'Going Too Far' — 'Type of Regimentation'

Little Official Support for Sartorial Students

A Halifax school board ruling that high school boys must wear collar, tie and jacket to classes, had few supporters in Victoria last night.

Frequently heard comments echoed by some Victoria school officials were: "I can't see any reason for it," and: "That's going a little too far."

But opinion here was far from unanimous, and many agreed that there was room for improvement in the way students dress.

Ald. Austin Curtis, a former school trustee, agrees with Halifax that a form of uniform dress would be "much better than some of the clothes worn to school by students," and is convinced that boys and girls coming to business men for jobs did not know how to dress.

"I don't think the people of Victoria are so hard up that they couldn't afford to dress their children in acceptable clothes," he said.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, chairman of the education committee of the school board, had this to say:

"Yes, I approve of uniformity of dress in both elementary and high schools. I believe it makes for less competition and therefore less discontent. The students can concentrate more on studies and less on fashions."

At the time she was asked for comment, Mrs. McGill was at a meeting of a mothers' group. She said she found "all 11 mothers present at the meeting in favor of dress uniformity."

Victoria schools inspector John Gough agreed with the majority of views in the survey, but said compulsory uniformity of dress is "beyond the power of the school board" and would "just raise a storm" if it was attempted.

"The economic standards of many walks of life couldn't support this type of regimentation," he said. "All we ask is that the student be respectably and cleanly dressed," which, he believes, is a parental responsibility.

As in Halifax, most school officials felt that girls should not wear slacks and jeans to school.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

UNCLE SAM has come up with another of those strange acts of selfishness that dismay his friends and comfort his enemies.

The United States army has called for tenders for electrical equipment for the Chief Joseph dam in Washington State. British firms submitted the lowest bids by far. Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson ordered the army to reject the British tenders and give the contracts to American firms.

English Electric and Trading Co. offered three transformers for $470,965. Pennsylvania Transformer Co. got the job for $556,868.

English Electric offered six generators for $5,460,351. The contract was awarded to Westinghouse Electric for $6,338,491.

How does this square with America's role as champion of competitive free enterprise and kindly benefactor to the world?

The cynic is tempted to define the American creed in new terms: "Competition—as long as we are winning"; and "Help for the world—as long as we don't have to make any sacrifices."

The same thing happened before, on the same power project. The low British bids were turned down, and contracts went to American firms. But there was such a clamor from Britain that the administration changed its mind and awarded a few contracts to British firms after all.

This time the defence secretary said he turned down the British bids so that the machinery could be made in Pittsburgh, an area of unemployment.

This is good news for Pittsburgh, but poor news for the world.

* * *

The United States was not obliged to accept the lowest or any tender. But if they meant all along to give the contract to an American company, why did they call for outside tenders at all?

Defence Secretary Wilson, or anyone else who had a hand in the business, could have saved the British firm much trouble and expense by stating: "Only Americans need apply."

Did they hope, perhaps, that the British manufacturers would quote too high a figure? Then they could have said: "Look at those inefficient British—they can't meet our prices."

Or were they using the British entry as a kind of pace-setter to make the American companies put forth their best efforts?

Without detailed knowledge a layman at this distance can't give any opinions of much value; but the facts that have emerged in news reports don't smell pleasant.

* * *

Some factions in the United States are given to wailing loudly about the charity good old Uncle Sam hands out to lazy, worthless foreign nations.

But when these same nations offer their wares to the United States on the open market, at a price no American firm can meet, big genial Uncle Sam refuses them, and takes shelter behind an administrative wall.

Britain and other allies of the United States were brought to financial distress by the war. Britain is trying to clamber back, but she can only regain strength by selling her goods abroad. If America won't buy what she has to sell, she may be condemned to everlasting dependence.

Perhaps that is what Defence Secretary Wilson and other business tycoons in the Eisenhower cabinet would like to see.

If this is the case, they take a short-sighted view. Many schoolboys know what Mr. Wilson appears to have forgotten—that trade is a two-way affair. America can't lift herself by her bootstraps. Lacking dollars, Britain can't buy American goods.

Policies of this kind could eventually bring trade to a near-standstill—as they did in high-tariff days. In that event there will be mass unemployment in Pittsburgh and everywhere else.

Boy Gets U.S.S.R. Medal

Wild Oats a Problem Here and in Russia

REGINA (CP) — The Soviet Ukraine, like the Canadian Prairies, has a serious problem in wild oats, Russian farm experts disclosed Tuesday.

Each year the weed takes a heavy toll in Canadian wheat. It gets into the fields, spreads rapidly and profusely and tends to choke off wheat growth.

H. W. Leggett, superintendent of a federal experimental station here, told the Soviet farm leaders that his station has been trying for several years to find some cheap chemical to control wild oats, but so far has been unsuccessful.

Chemicals which could do the job were very expensive. The best workable control method, so far, he said, was late wheat seeding. But late seeding could mean a late harvest increasing the possible dangers from frost and bad harvesting weather.

Andrei Shevchenko, Soviet agricultural ministry counsellor, said wild oats posed a "very difficult and very serious problem" in the Soviet Ukraine on farms confined strictly to grain production.

SEE MACHINE

The Russians, on the sixth day of their 16-day Canadian tour, expressed particular interest in machinery for breaking virgin soil.

They were shown the Noble blade, a hydraulically-controlled inverted V-shaped single - blade plough that cuts under the top layer of the soil without scattering surface stubble.

At Pense, 18 miles west of Regina, they stopped at the 1,400-acre farm of Wallace Thomson, president of the Agricultural Institute of Canada.

There, the Russians were surprised to learn that with the aid of machinery, Mr. Wallace could run his whole farm with only one permanently-employed hired man and the extra help of his son at harvest time.

Trade Talks Hint Dropped by Reds

OTTAWA (CP)—Russia may be interested in opening talks with Canada in an effort to lower tariffs and increase trade between the two countries.

Reports have been received in Ottawa that the Russians may propose a most-favored-nation tariff arrangement with Canada to External Affairs Minister Pearson during his visit to Moscow next month.

The feelers apparently originated with members of the nine-man Soviet farm leader delegation now touring western Canada. However, government officials aware of the reports said Russia has made no formal proposal as yet for a trade agreement with reduced tariffs.

The few goods Russia exports to Canada now are subject to general tariff rates, which are higher than the British preferential and most-favored-nation rates.

A trade department spokesman said lower Canadian tariffs on Russian goods might result in the Soviet Union increasing her purchases in this country.

The government probably would give serious consideration to any Russian proposals for a most-favored-nation trade agreement, one source said.

Russia would be the fourth Communist country to sign a trade agreement with Canada. Czechoslovakia, Poland and China already have trade agreements with this country under which they receive most-favored-nation treatment.

Trade between Russia and Canada has been practically non-existent for the last few years. However, other Communist countries have been boosting their purchases of Canadian products in recent months.

Poland in July purchased 1,850,000 bushels of Canadian wheat.

Czechoslovakia also purchased 300,000 pounds of Canadian butter from Canadian traders in July.

Few Disapprove Socred Policies

gave a variety of reasons. But 88 per cent had no opinion on what effect Liberal changes would have.

Another question asked which of the nine subjects mentioned earlier would be most important in the next election. The largest majority, 58 per cent, said highways and the smallest percentage, five, said the 10 per cent tax. There were 16 per cent with no opinion.

Liquor legislation was considered the second least important subject in the next election. There were other questions about this particular subject. Asked if the new liquor act was an improvement, 45 per cent (these are all weighted results) said it was an improvement, 25 per cent said it was no improvement and 31 per cent didn't know.

It was interesting to note, too, that a third of those people who said the liquor legislation was no improvement thought it was still too restrictive. On the question of favoring sale of hard liquor in restaurants, 50 per cent said they favored it, 38 per cent said they opposed it and 13 per cent had no opinion.

Some of the most controversial issues at the high levels of government were least understood by, and of least concern to, those questioned. For example, 27 per cent had not even heard of the Kaiser dam issue. Of those who had heard of it 26 per cent said they favored it, 16 per cent said they disapproved, 29 per cent had no opinion, and 31 per cent said they didn't understand the proposal.

Sidewalk Program Set

Saanich council last night approved a $20,000 sidewalk construction program in areas near five schools.

Sidewalks will be built as follows:

Carey road from Glanford to McKenzie; Cedar Hill crossroad, north side, from Blenkinsop to Braefoot; Richmond, west side, from Lansdowne southerly for 1,000 feet; Carey road, west side, from Cadillac to Mount View high school main entrance, and Gorge road, north side, from Wyndiate road to Adelaide.

Garden Notes

Berry Variety Faces Suicide

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS.

One of the most popular varieties of strawberry ever to be grown on this Island is slowly committing suicide. Climax has "had it," and every bed of this grand strawberry will eventually develop yellows, while the whole variety is doomed to extinction.

For some time now, this trouble, known as "yellows," has been noticed in beds of Climax, with the leaves turning pale and anaemic, with some distortion and poor growth. Plants eventually become dwarfed almost to the point of death. At first it was thought this was due to a virus infection, but it is now known that the trouble is hereditary, and is a breakdown or change in the actual cells of the plant due to inherited factors.

ONE SINGLE PARENT

It must be realized that any given variety of strawberry is actually a piece from one single parent plant. Two strawberry plants were mated, and the resultant seed gave a number of plants with varying characteristics.

One of these—a superior plant—was given the name Climax, and every other Climax plant in the world has been grown from runners descended from this one plant. No other parent has entered the picture since the original Climax plant was bred, so the plant in your garden is not a great-grandson, but a living piece of the first plant.

It follows then that any peculiarity of the genes inherited from the two parents will be present in every Climax plant. The gradual breakdown of the cells, causing yellows and dwarfing, is unfortunately the peculiarity contributed by the American parent of Climax.

It must be understood that this is not a disease or virus infection. It cannot infect the ground in which the plants are grown, nor can it be passed on to other varieties. No spraying or cultural treatment of any kind can prevent this breakdown or assist recovery. Every plant of Climax must inevitably develop yellows and cease to be of any value for cropping.

LIKE HAEMOPHILIA

While it is not a particularly apt comparison, the nearest example of this sort of thing I can think of off-hand is the congenital haemophilia which afflicts all the male members of the Spanish royal family.

I don't suggest for a moment that every gardener should dig up and throw away his Climax plants this fall. It is such a grand variety, it would be a shame to discard it while the plants are still cropping vigorously. But it would be the height of foolishness to plant up a new bed with a variety which has an appointment with death.

Free Legal Aid for 'Little Man' Advocated

. . . Over Government Subsidy

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Bar Association's council heard a proposal Tuesday for establishment of a "charter of the little man to Canadian courts of justice." The charter would provide free legal services to all who need it.

As part of a lengthy meeting the 200-man body also asked its incoming executive to continue a study, begun last March, aimed at clarifying the legal position on newspapers involved in libel and slander suits.

The legal-aid proposal was put forward by Benjamin R. Guss of Saint John, N.B., chairman of the association's legal aid committee.

The report was received at a closed meeting of the council and there were indications it may be revised in part before its adoption is considered by the CBA as a whole.

LEGAL AID FUND

The committee's report called for establishment of a legal aid fund by each provincial bar association to help finance the project.

The report said that at present the giving of legal aid in Canada is completely voluntary and "in many cases the lawyer himself pays the disbursements."

"We favor voluntary legal aid as against a government subsidized plan," the report said.

The report outlined the conditions under which the aid would be given by a committee to be set up in each province.

"This service shall be absolutely free if payment of any legal fees by an applicant would impair his ability to look after his family properly," it said.

"If the eligibility committee decides the applicant can pay something, but that he cannot pay the full or usual fee, the committee will refer the applicant to a competent lawyer who will render the service . . . at a cost within the prospective client's means so as not to impair the applicant's ability to support his family adequately."

A group of Ontario lawyers intends to fight for adoption by the Canadian Bar Association's annual meeting of a resolution limiting the use in the courts of statements given to police.

William A. MacDonald, Jr., 29, of Toronto will bring before the association's criminal law section a series of resolutions calling for changes in criminal prosecutions.

The resolution calls for excluding from evidence statements made by arrested persons to police, unless given under oath and in the presence of a justice of the peace.

The group will also advocate abolition of corporal punishment except in a disciplinary measure in prisons.

Bus Crashes, Thirty Hurt

Fish and Chips Congeal

LONDON (CP) — Business is so bad in the fish-and-chip industry that the government is to be asked to provide a subsidy.

The decline in demand for what used to be virtually a staple part of the English diet rests on several factors.

The hot summer hasn't helped. The Russians seem to be buying up world stocks of fat—for frying—and gas and electricity are more expensive.

The state-financed White Fish Authority, which seeks to increase fish consumption, will ask members of Parliament to consider a subsidy when the Commons convenes after the summer break.

Meanwhile, a survey is being conducted to investigate further why the public has tired of the commodity it used to buy wrapped in newspapers, either to munch on the spot or take home for tea.

Maritime Policy Obsolete

EVIDENCE adduced before the Spence commission on coastal trade on its journey across Canada seems to be pointing each day more clearly to an underlying weakness in national policy. Absorbed with other problems, Canada has let its maritime development drift to a dangerously low point. It is not only a question of the absence of an adequate merchant marine, but also the ability of this nation to build economically such civilian and naval tonnage as it requires for its own immediate needs. Beyond that is the problem of Canadian importers and exporters, more or less at the mercy of foreign shipping; while surrounding the whole issue is the palpable lack of adequate communications between coast and coast and along Canadian waterways inside Canada.

Wherever the commission has sat the same basic conclusions have tended to emerge, no matter what have been the regional or local variations of the theme. Thus in British Columbia, for example, the commissioners were told that shipbuilding yards are operating at a dead-level minimum percentage of their capacity, one degree above virtual extinction; that foreign bottoms are taking the cream of the coastal trade under existing Canadian regulations; that "dumped" or imported tonnage has been used to bolster a failing and obsolescent degree of service in the coastal trade; and that the Panama Canal has not become for this province the blessing that once had been predicted.

The same thing with an eastern slant has been said in the Maritimes regarding the Atlantic Coast, its coastal and intercoastal trade. The conflict—and there has been some—seems to rest between those who would choose different remedies towards a much desired solution; one by way of subsidies and more restrictive Canadian shipping regulations; and the other by open competition and the longer way through the operation of the law of supply and demand. But on both coasts and also in the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence system much the same thing essentially is being adduced. Canada is suffering directly from failure to cope realistically with its own problem of maritime trading.

In British Columbia the complex problem has long been acute. National defence contracts have kept coast shipyards operating on little better than a skeleton-crew tempo. Shipbuilding and ship repairs, providing a living to some 40,000 personnel, have remained depressed during most of the post-war period. Local coastal tonnage for the most part is built outside Canada. Intercoastal shipping rates have not lightened the toll of comparative costs, but quite the reverse. Materials and labor are high for understood economic and geographical reasons. The result is that no expansion of any adequate nature has taken place in the ultimate maritime service given.

While it may be easier to suggest national shipping subsidies than it would be to pay them, there are few nations in the world today which have not had to resort to such forms of assistance long ago. Canada's failure to help in the subvention of the Canadian-Australian service a few years ago cost this country its direct connection with the Antipodes. Its studied neglect of a merchant marine and of maritime development has cost the economic life of the nation incalculable losses. Patching at the present situation is not likely to be very effective. What the nation needs is an entirely new and more vigorous policy on maritime upkeep in touch with the opportunities of the times and Canada's own position as a senior trading nation. If the results of the commission's journey teach something of this lesson at Ottawa the inquiry will be well worthwhile.

Profitable Business

CURIOSITY on what net profits from Victoria's parking meters run to in a year prompted the Colonist this week to check over the official returns, and the results were published yesterday. They are illuminating. Victoria has had parking meters in operation for eight years, and in that relatively short period they have returned a clear profit of about $300,000.

The net profit was small in the beginning, because allowance had to be made for the purchase of the meters. Latterly, with most of the debts paid off and the number of meters greatly increased, the returns have been mounting. At present the net profit is running close to $70,000 a year, and will climb still higher when the additional 300 meters now being installed begin to make money. On top of that there is the revenue from fines for parking meter infractions, currently grossing about $15,000 a year.

These figures are mentioned for the purpose of showing that the City has ample means to finance modern, off-the-street parking facilities if it chose to do so. It could safely borrow up to $1,000,000 if necessary, repaying the loan out of meter profits; or it could develop municipal parking facilities progressively on a pay-as-you-go plan with $70,000 a year or more at its command.

It may be argued that if extensive off-the-street parking service were provided, returns from the curbside meters would drop. This appears most unlikely at the rate at which demand for parking space is increasing, with the number of automobiles registered in this region doubling every few years. What is more, municipal parking lots or pigeonhole buildings such as many North American cities now operate would themselves be revenue producers; could in fact provide more clear profit, in time if not at the beginning. It has never been suggested that parking should be free. A charge at the rate of, say, 5 cents an hour but with no irksome time limit or worries about fines would meet the public need admirably.

What seems to be holding the council back from embarking on a project of this sort is the belief held by some that if merchants want parking facilities for their customers they should go into the business themselves, on some kind of co-operative plan. If that were the narrow view of the matter everywhere, some of the bigger cities on this continent would be in a fine mess. Victoria is making this $70,000-a-year profit out of a special tax, most of it derived from non-residents, and it has a moral obligation to provide something in return. To do so also would be ordinary common sense.

Piling On the Load

AN economist of the UBC has advised the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Reeves in session at Edmonton to plump for four new taxes within municipal limits. His choice was a civic tax on automobiles; another on amusements; a third on light and telephone bills, and the fourth on alcoholic beverage outlets. While no one can deny the need of municipalities for expanding revenues, why this curious selection? The car owner already pays double-weight taxation in the land. Ottawa levies on light and telephone bills. The Provinces assess amusement receipts. Beverage outlets may comprise more open ground, but even there taxes are paid on taxes federally, provincially and municipally once around the field. Even if all these new civic taxes were levied upon all concerned, one doubts if municipal levies would gain by one mill; while some citizens would be paying a tax on a tax on a tax in a most uneconomic fashion.

Interpreting the News

The Big Riddle

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

THE United Nations subcommittee on disarmament has begun its sessions under considerable political pressure of a type which carries potential danger.

The pressure, inherent in the world situation and expressed in such statements as President Eisenhower's that the meeting can contribute to relaxed international tensions, is for some show of progress.

The danger is that such a show of progress will play into the hands of Soviet Russia.

The subcommittee is meeting before the big riddle of the day has been solved, and that is whether Russia is putting up a front for her own purposes, or is really working toward permanent coexistence.

* * *

Russia has been trying for years, ever since the organization of the United Nations, to get the West to give up the nuclear weapons which give it military equality with the vast manpower available to the Communists. That still seems to be the key point of her proposals.

Strangely enough, then, there is a situation in which the world, devoutly wishing for disarmament, could be badly damaged by its achievement. Certainly any agreements or seeming agreements reached in a hurry, under pressure to keep the picture on the conciliatory side until the foreign ministers meet in October, would take on the aspects of dangerous soporifics.

As the meeting opened there appeared to be little chance that anything would be done. The Allies are demanding such detailed safeguards that acceptance by Russia would require a change in her whole character and whole policy. The West has not given up hope that this change will eventually take place, but has no evidence that it is imminent.

As one step leads to another in negotiations, the nations seem to be falling into one encouraging attitude, and that is to fight out the East-West conflict on political and economic rather than military lines. But the world has not yet progressed to the point where military power will not be needed to give tone to the voice of diplomacy.

The British Scene . . .

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IF I remember correctly that old curmudgeon, Dr. Gillespie, when irked by his young colleague Dr. Kildare, would explode with: "Aw, go boil your head in a bucket of ether."

Doubtless Dr. Kildare could appraise correctly the culture behind this uncouth remark, but could his radio listeners? Juveniles for instance. The boy whom you hear say on any street: "Aw, nuts!"

"Nuts" of course, since the Bastogne affair, has become a North American classic, quite respectable indeed, and one may look forward with confidence to its inclusion in the next major dictionary to be published.

But when listening to Dr. Gillespie I wondered sometimes how George Washington might have reacted.

* * *

Normally, I think, we do the hero of the American Revolution some injustice. Our impression of him is colored by the cherry tree story and not by the picture of him crossing the Delware. This is quite wrong, and I know that small boys shouldn't tell untruths, but . . .

On the basis that the boy is father to the man, George must have been at least slightly stuffy when he grew up.

Judge for yourself.

A journalist has been delving into the Library of Congress, deep into Washington's copy-book. Perhaps this is where Emily Post also drew her inspiration.

Here is George at fifteen, and his rules of table manners and polite speech. He outdid the Earl of Chesterfield by having 110 of them.

"Put not your meat to your mouth with your knife in your hand; neither spit forth the stones . . . nor cast anything under the table.

"Drink not with your mouth full . . . Talk not with meat in your mouth. . . Cleanse not your teeth with the tablecloth. . .

"Be not forward, but friendly and courteous. . . Play not the peacock, looking everywhere about you to see if you be well decked. Be modest . . . When another speaks, be attentive. . ."

* * *

No, George Washington assuredly never said "Nuts!" or suggested that someone should go boil his head.

He lived in a courtly age, when democracy was not deemed to be symbolized by shirtsleeves and spittoons. In fact he knew little about democracy. The fathers of the American Revolution, in spite of their declaration that all men are equal, did not really think so. That was why they considered the populace unfit to elect a president and so devised an electoral college.

They were not to know it would be by-passed just as easily as Washington's copy-book.

Or that the flower of the English language would some day be expressed — very effectively too in the Battle of the Bulge—in the words "nuts."

No wonder the Wehrmacht could make nothing of defiance couched in such rude fashion.

"It is in refinement and elegance that the civilized man differs from the savage," said another doctor, Johnson by name. But then a French duke (of all people) said this: "Too much refinement is false delicacy."

This latter must have been the motto of Dr. Gillespie.

But let Bernard Shaw, who loved the last word, have the last word on manners:

"In short, behave as if you were in Heaven, where there are no third-class passengers, and one soul is as good as another."

* * *

This will be all for a week or two, my readers, since vacation calls and is not to be denied.

Letter from London

England as Visitors See It

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

THERE are two broad types of Englishmen — the one who thinks that Britain is perfect and that nowhere else in the world can anything be done as well or as effectively (the type of patriot who gets on most people's nerves); and the one who thinks that there is nothing right about the country from the government to the chambermaid at the hotel or the German cook they obtained at great expense only to discover that she could not cook. The government should not allow it.

The objective type of Englishman is rare. He may be, and usually is, quite tolerant of criticism. He is, of course, a master of compromise — that is why he does not howl quite as much as most people when British Railways tell him that if he does not like their trains he can walk. He endures benignly under bureaucratic tyranny but professes a profound faith in setting the people free. Faith and action have become sharply divided since the war.

The modern village Hampden enduring hell and high water for a principle is much rarer than he should be, but he still shows up occasionally.

So I decided that it was one thing to report this island as I see it, and that it could be quite another thing through the eyes of those who have not seen us for a long time. I thought it might be a change to read what your own countrymen — islanders both—think about this island. It should be emphasized too that anything said was said objectively and not in the spirit of criticism.

* * *

First I tackled Mr. George D. Tyson who will be sailing home to Victoria via Panama in mid-October. He compared England with the England he last saw only 4½ years ago, although he went to Canada originally 45 years ago. He sees 4½ years of extraordinary progress with everything booming and everyone seemingly enjoying themselves. The shops were filled with plentiful stocks, a tremendous amount of war damage has been repaired, new buildings going up and old buildings looking new and spruce with renovations and paint.

"It is a wonderful story," Mr. Tyson told me. "It shows what can be done and the real strength of the Old Country—but I think the boom can be dangerous unless exports go up. Full employment has given economic liberty to everyone. I hope it is not turned into licence. The danger of such prosperity at home is that exports may be neglected because of such heavy home consumption. The only fear I have is that things are so buoyant at home that exports may become neglected. That is the one thing which Britain must watch—and the biggest factor in exports is the right goods at the right price."

The other big problem for Britain is her roads. Mr. Tyson has motored more than 4,000 miles since he arrived in May and reports laconically that the pleasure has gone out of motoring in England—too many cars and not enough road space. He found the crowded roads exhausting but added that it was a sign of prosperity that so many people had cars to drive around, and he welcomed the plans for better roads announced by the government as an urgently necessity if any pleasure was to be restored to motoring.

"But these things are little points compared with the wonderful spirit of the country, the crowds of well dressed people and the obvious prosperity," he said.

* * *

The road problem cropped up naturally enough when I tackled Mr. F. R. Gooding, who manages Ford distribution in Duncan. He said quite simply that it was far more exhausting to drive a hundred miles in England than 250 miles in Canada and whilst paying tribute to the exceptional road courtesy of truck and bus drivers, he was disappointed with the road manners of the average driver. Generously he put it down to the enormous numbers of "summer" drivers who bring out ancient vehicles into the heavy stream accentuated by the exceptionally bright summer weather this year. The number of old vehicles on the roads surprised him.

But England generally? Mr. Gooding takes the long view. He has not seen England since he left it first 45 years ago. He finds the changes of those years almost incredible. When he first saw his old home town of Southampton he thought he got to the wrong place.

"There was not one single thing I could recognize," he told me. "What were green fields have been built over, new roads have been carved in the city itself, new shops and buildings. I can hardly believe that a place could change so much in less than half a century. But it has been a wonderful change. There were no ragged little urchins this time, no almost naked children in bare feet, and everywhere signs of prosperity and comfortable living. It is a grand thing to live through such a wonderful change and Britain should be immensely proud of her achievement in virtually eliminating poverty. It is inspiring."

Mr. Gooding rose in his strength to the defence of English food, so often criticized by Englishmen and foreigners. "I think the English food is marvellous; cooking is good and the price—at $2.75 to the £—is ridiculously cheap, but I'm sorry I cannot be as enthusiastic about the service which goes with it. I think service has slipped badly and many of us would not mind paying a bit more if we could have service equal to the food."

But I gathered that there was some solace in a 30-cent haircut with a regret that tipping is still tolerated in Britain—a point which will earn loud applause from many Englishmen who would much prefer to pay the equivalent of 40 cents for a haircut than face the implied obligation of a five-cent tip—given in many cases by people earning less than the hairdresser.

The other thing which struck Mr. Gooding forcibly was the amount of litter in Britain "on the highways, in the parks and racecourses — everywhere—it makes things look so untidy. Mind you, it is not that I think that they are any worse than Canadians; it is just that there are so many people throwing things in such a small space—and it makes it so much more obvious."

* * *

By and large, Britain is doing a grand job according to Mr. Gooding and he has discovered that the characteristic frigidity of the Englishman is an illusion. "It just isn't true," he said. "Everywhere I have found the utmost friendliness. The idea that the English won't speak to strangers is rot."

Britain's amazing achievement, thinks Mr. Gooding, is that despite two world wars she has eliminated poverty — but he, too, stressed the danger of complacency, the risk of full employment causing indolence and too much work for too few people creating conditions which depress the highly competitive export market. Mr. Gooding would like to see many more Britons in Canada — and bring some of their industries with them. "Fewer people in Britain and more Britons in Canada would do both countries a wealth of good," he said.

And we who sit here and report, rejoice that our observations tally closely with those who have a wider perspective.

No Profit in Shrdlu

(From The Portland Oregonian)

THE typographical error is the bane of the printing trades and the newspaper man's life. Despite all precaution, a "bridge" can become a "bride," an "angle" an "angel," with results ranging from the ridiculous to the libellous.

Scarcely an issue of any newspaper, this one included, ever appears without some such errors. Little wonder when it is considered that a newspaper of normal size will contain as many as 20,000 lines of news and editorial matter, much of it rushed into type in a matter of minutes.

It is a comfort to know that even more deliberate printing operations produce boners. Several freak pieces of U.S. currency have been found in the east, some with one face proclaiming a value of $1, the other $10, and others with $20-$10, $5-$10 and $1-$2 combinations. All these denominations would not be on the same printed sheet, so the variety of the freaks is proof that there have been several greenback "typos" despite the most meticulous checking.

On one score, however, we can envy the money printers. Their mistakes add to rather than detract from the value of their product. A new York department store is asking $1,250 for a "$15 bill," with $10 on one side, $5 on the other. The newspaper "typo" brings no fancy price. The supply, unhappily, will always far outrun the demand.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

WE should all have at our finger tips a few well memorized and instantly ready squelches to use when we get into sharp company.

The best one I have heard in years turned up as follows. A mild, generous fellow I know was cornered by one of those master minds you come across on golf club verandas, at vestry meetings, service club luncheons and wedding receptions. In this particular instance, it was on a summer hotel porch. The master mind was one of those characters who keeps abreast of all the news from the United Nations, knows the name of the delegate from Iran or Timbuctoo, can quote Molotoff's latest utterance. More than that, he can tell you where Dulles just came home from. He is also fully aware of what is going on at Chalk River. He is in the know.

My poor amiable friend was backed up against a veranda pillar by the master mind, who was going through his recitations as though he were addressing a meeting of 500 fellow master minds.

"What do you think," demanded the master mind, "of Nehru's latest attitude?"

My friend knows no more of Nehru than that he likes what he has seen of him on television.

However, master minds don't wait for replies to their questions. If you try to reply, they instantly interrupt you. So there my friend stood, while he got all the latest headlines marvellously garbled and magnificently arranged to suit the fevered mentality of the master mind.

Seeing his audience showing the signs of wilting with which all master minds must be familiar, the veranda operator paused and asked:

"As a Canadian, where do you think Canada should stand with regard to NATO?"

My weary friend took the master mind by the elbow and learned forward.

"My dear boy," he said, "I hesitate to form an opinion in the matter, because frankly, I don't think I know any more about it than you do."

This is a crack we should all remember. There are times we can use it almost every week.

Letters to the Editor

Led by the Nose

Reports say that Premier Bennett is determined to dam Buttle Lake. He talks like a democrat but acts like a dictator. Could it be that he and his cabinet of non-technical men are badly advised and are being "led by the nose?"

The B.C. Power Commission would appear to be pressing on regardless of the people. They talk of spending millions on dams to the danger of our fishing industry, pushing aside the common people who own Strathcona park, when every student knows that nuclear-fission has out-moded all this.

Where is the urgency to despoil Buttle Lake for such doubtful gain at a time when Britain is today putting into use an atomic pile for the same purpose with a tremendous potential output, without disturbing a blade of grass?

Premier Bennett, in a feeble effort to justify the filching of our natural resources at Buttle Lake, says the decision was arrived at in a democratic manner, when, on the contrary, the decision rested with the water controller. Can the premier, even at this late hour, be persuaded to postpone this futile scheme for a few months while the latest proof be shown that it is unnecessary to pour our money "down the drain" for the sake of his "saving face" over a few kilowatts in a public park?

Vicious 'Coons

In my 50 years of experience with treacherous animals (raccoons) I cannot say one word in their favor; and their wanton killing of chickens is about the worst type. Tearing their way into a chicken house, they will kill and maul just for the sake of killing, apparently for their own amusement.

I can quote an instance where I had a mother hen and eight young chicks. I awoke in the morning to find the coop open and no hen or chicks. This marauder had apparently swallowed the chicks whole and as usual had dragged the hen away alive and eaten her, which does seem too cruel for words.

Too much praise cannot be said for Mr. Godfrey who managed to destroy these cunning animals, who can hardly be caught by a trap.

It is true that God made all these animals but wisely created man over these to be handled if they become destructive. An adult male coon weighs a good 15 lbs and they can do a lot of damage among a pen of defenceless chickens. Also a mother coon will bring her family and climb a plum tree and no one can realize the destruction that can be done in one night, as they will feast only on the ripe end of the fruit, knocking the rest to the ground.

Pouncing on Britain

Your correspondent, J. H. Gray, deserves commendation for the very fine letter in the Colonist of Aug. 24 and his reply to objections made by another correspondent regarding good old English customs. His letter was both convincing and enlightening.

Permit me to add a few words for the benefit of those who are always ready to pounce upon Great Britain and the British people. I ask where would Canada and Canadians—English, Scotch and Irish—be today if there had been no British navy to protect us in the 1914-18 war and the Second World War? And what a debt we all owe to the men of the RAF in the Battle of Britain when Hitler threatened the British Empire, also the United States.

Let us think of these dark days sometimes, and also the Canadian soldiers who suffered and died in both wars.

Tradition of Esau

Is British Columbia to follow the tradition of Esau, who "sold his birthright for a mess of pottage"? Strathcona park was, with wonderful foresight, set aside for the recreation and enjoyment of the citizens of this province. It is now proposed to sell it for a mess of power.

In the Bible story judgment was given against Esau, and he and his descendants suffered in perpetuity; today a citizenry which sells its last remaining stretch of primeval forest for a quick gain will also be sentenced to suffer for all time.

There are values to human beings far greater than electric power, necessary though that may be. Mr. Haig-Brown has spoken of some of them. Buttle Lake may be only a small part of Strathcona park, but surely it is a sign of the sickness of our civilization that we can contemplate for one instant the ruin of that small fraction, in order to obtain reserve power to run pulp mills and washing machines.

The fact that, to date, few people have visited Strathcona park can carry no weight in this controversy, for the responsibility of any government or citizen is to the future generations as well as to the present.

Where, too, will this stop? Are we not allowing a dangerous precedent to be set up when we do not prevent the whittling away of a most valuable possession? That possession is a trust; let us guard and hold it.

$250,000 Bank To Replace Old B.C. Electric Building

Demolition crews will start tearing down the B.C. Electric building on the northeast corner of Douglas and Pandora within a month to clear the way for construction of a modern $250,000 branch of the Royal Bank.

Staff and clerks in the two-storey building opposite city hall will move into B.C. Electric's new $1,000,000 structure at Pandora and Blanshard Thursday.

Working drawings for the new bank have been completed by architects. Supervising architects are Wade, Stockdill and Armour.

Royal Bank branch manager R. R. Wilde said the proposed structure of concrete and glass, reinforced by steel, will rise 30 feet above the sidewalk.

Plate glass will cover practically the entire front of the building which will have frontage of 58 feet on Douglas and will extend along Pandora about 100 feet.

Mr. Wilde said that construction depends on whether solid rock is found beneath the present structure which does not have a basement. Only after the building is demolished can this be determined.

If there are no obstacles to construction, Mr. Wilde said, the new building should be completed in about a year.

TCP re-powers your engine in the first 400 miles of your Labour Day trip

Now you can end your first day on the road with your engine tuned up better than when you started!

Quickly as that, Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP* brings back power stolen by harmful engine deposits formed by your usual around-town driving. It fireproofs the deposits in combustion chambers—to control pre-firing—a major cause of power loss. It makes the deposits on spark plugs non-conductive—to halt short circuits that cause spark plug "miss."

Before you've used two tankfuls of Shell Premium with TCP, it will re-power your engine. Continued use of Shell Premium with TCP additive is essential to halt pre-firing and for you to obtain the full benefits of high octane gasoline. You'll find it's the most powerful gasoline your car can use.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

GOLF HORSERACE POPULAR. Victoria golfers are likely to be given an early opportunity of taking part in a horserace competition currently popular in the United States.

The Royal Colwood club is considering putting on such an event following the annual visit to the Rainier club last week, when five of their members took part in such an event.

The horserace begins with 16 players, three of whom are knocked out at each of the first three holes; and the elimination continues until only two are left to play the last and ninth hole.

In the event of scores being equal, those tying for the higher score go back and play short pitch shots to the hole and those further away from the hole are eliminated.

In the Rainier horserace, Bill McColl, Ted Colgate, George Andrews, Vic Painter and Vince Clarkson of Colwood took part. Clarkson was eliminated at the fifth hole, but McColl got into the last three and lost his chance of going into the final hole by three-putting the eighth. Winner was John Fabbio of the Rainier club.

THEY'LL BE TAYLOR MADE. When a fellow goes into a tailor and gets himself measured for a suit of clothes, he has the excitement of stipulating the cut, choosing the material and then awaiting the finished product.

How much more exciting for the golfer who is awaiting the building and formal handing over of a new set of wooden clubs! The suit may satisfy the whim of the moment but the new set of clubs may be a joy for ever.

Phil Taylor, the Victoria club pro, has undertaken to build me a new set. The persimmon is at present in block form; the type and whip of the shafts has yet to be decided; the grips and the finish to be selected.

Every visit to the pro shop will be with pleasurable anticipation. Whittle carefully on that precious wood, Phil, my pleasures and sorrows lie in your hands.

There will be no rushing. Phil has promised nothing more than that I will have them in time to give myself a Christmas present.

DOCTOR COMES FROM BEHIND. The handicap championship final at Gorge Vale at the week-end produced a winner who had the unusual experience of being five holes down after playing 10 holes.

He was Dr. Roger Ross, a comparatively new member with a handicap of 20. His opponent, Jack Storrie, had to give him 20 strokes over the 36 holes.

After his poor start, Dr. Ross played the last eight holes of the first round in one over par—remarkable for a 20 handicapper—and at the halfway mark was only one down.

Dr. Ross was two up after 27 holes and eventually won by 2 and 1.

TWO HOLES-IN-ONE. Two more Victoria golfers scored holes-in-one at the week-end.

George Andrews, the Royal Colwood champion, sank a No. 3 iron tee shot at the 13th hole of the Rainier club in Seattle on Friday. The hole is 200 yards long and Andrews was playing with clubmates Vic Painter, Bob Thompson, Ritchie Williams and Rainier member Roger Hyman.

Playing a "canasta" on the hole—in which the winner is the one whose ball ends closest to the hole—Vic Painter played first and parked his shot two feet from the pin. Andrews shot next and holed out.

It was "Porky's" second ace. He holed out in one last year at the seventh at Colwood.

The other hole-in-one expert was Tom G. Ely, a Victoria club member. He scored his ace at the 165-yard second hole when playing with Charlie Bovey and Jack Hobson on Monday morning.

Ely's only other hole-in-one was at the Kobe course in Japan. He remembers the date all right. It was on his 33rd birthday.

PARTNERS AGAIN. The best of resolutions are made only to be broken. Johnnie Merriman, the popular little Gorge Vale crack, decided recently to lay off golf while he got on with some home-construction chores.

But the call of the links has been too great. Johnnie hasn't been able to resist the renewal of his famed buttons partnership with Bobby Fleming, and the pair are down on the list as second challengers.

They will meet the winners of the match between George Bigelow and Hugh Morrison of Victoria, and Gordon Pellow and Al Reside of Uplands, which is due to be played about the middle of September.

Reason for the delay in resuming the buttons competition is that a number of players are still on holiday while one of the holders—George Bigelow—is taking part in the Totem tournament at Jasper.

GOINGS-ON AT VICOLUP. Some of the elder members of the Vicolup club were sitting around a window at the nineteenth, when a shapely young girl with long limbs and equally abbreviated shorts walked past.

"They shouldn't allow a girl to play golf dressed like centre court hussies at Wimbledon," said Cmdr. Chase. "How can a feller keep his mind on his game?"

"The secretary should tell her she's got to dress proper," said Bob Melon, snapping his dental plate back into position.

Meanwhile the oldest member was peeping out the window and watching the girl swing and hit the ball gracefully down the fairway.

"Let the girl be," croaked the old timer. "I only wish I was 40 years younger."

Aussies Again Trim U.S. Tennis Stars

Australia's Davis Cup team again humbled America's top tennis players as they took seven of eight sets in an exhibition series with the U.S. cup team at Sea Bright, N.J., yesterday.

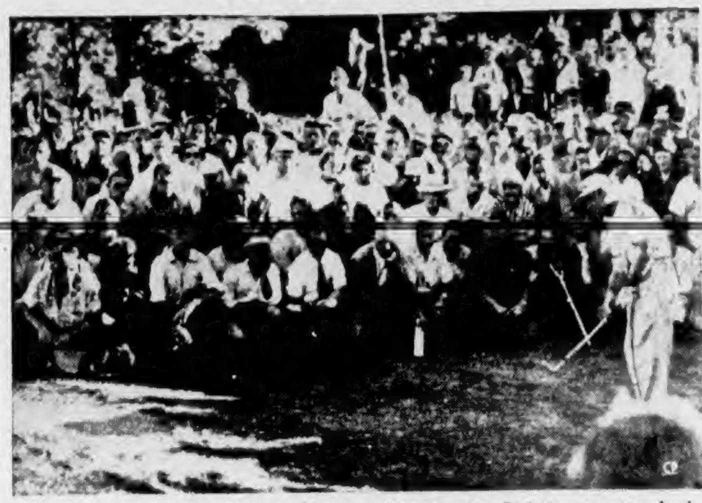

Aussie doubles player Rex Hartwig rapped U.S. ace Tony Trabert, 6-3, 6-3, but it was Ken Rosewall who turned in the most impressive performance as he hit the corners consistently in trimming America's second-stringer, Gil Shea, 6-2, 7-5.

Ham Richardson of the U.S. squad split two sets with young Neale Fraser while Lew Hoad, who did not play in the singles, teamed with Hartwig to blast Shea and Richardson, 6-2, 6-2, in the only doubles match.

The Shot That Failed

On the extra hole, Leonard finally wound up with a six while the Californian got down in a par five to take first place.—(CP Photo.)

John Takes Turn in Hero's Role As Arrows Score 10-Inning Win

On Monday it was Ab Weibe. Last night it was John Furmston.

Wiebe parked a ninth-inning drive into the trees at Central park Monday to give Fletchers a 3-2 victory and a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Vancouver Island senior "A" men's softball final. Last night Furmston did even better.

In addition to pitching Arrow Furniture to a 3-2, 10-inning triumph at Royal Athletic park, Furmston hit a tremendous home run in the bottom of the ninth to start a two-run rally that tied the score at 2-2. He then won his own game in the 10th with a triple to centre field that drove in Len Scott with the winning marker.

STRING SNAPPED

For Fletchers' Ed Foychuck, who had a string of 17 scoreless playoff innings before Furmston connected, it was a heartbreaking loss. Foychuck retired the first two men in the 10th inning and actually struck out Scott for what should have been the third out. But catcher Les Wilson dropped the third strike ad didn't get the ball down to first in time to catch the fleet-footed Scott.

Furmston came up and drove one of Foychuck's offerings to dead centre field. The ball dropped just in front of Fiori Goegan, bouncing over his shoulder and giving Scott planty of time to scamper across with the winning run.

HOMER A TONIC

For eight innings, Arrows had played listlessly, but Furmston's ninth-inning blast apparently revived them. Hal Yardley followed Furmston with a single, took third on a single by Archie Sluggett, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Bill Benn to force the extra inning.

Foychuck had a three-hitter going into the disastrous ninth. The crafty righthander had faced only 27 batters and struck out seven. Furmston, on the other hand, was hit heavily in the early innings, and gave up a total of nine safeties.

Fletchers scored both their runs in the third inning. Foychuck led off with a single. Wilson and Chick Newman beat out bunt singles, and the Clothiers had the bases loaded with none out. The two lead runners scored on a pair of infield outs.

Fifth game of the series, which Fletchers lead, 2-1, will be played tonight, 7 o'clock at Athletic park.

Vampires Pin Hopes On Youthful Players

BY IAN GLENDAY

Vampires, a football team that has always had plenty of spirit but has lacked the weight needed to carry it through the season with a minimum of injuries, appears headed for another good season "but not a championship year."

Ray Mitchell, hard-working coach of the Victoria Canadian Intermediate Football League entry who always gets the most out of the talent he has on hand, said yesterday that "it will be a building year for us and I'm not looking for a championship team."

SHOULD IMPROVE

However, that doesn't mean that Vampires can be completely overlooked in the three-team battle for the championship won last season by Oak Bay Drakes. The Vamps, beaten by the Drakes in a hotly-contested final, are expected to provide any team they meet this season with a tough battle and Mitchell is counting on his squad to greatly improve as the season progresses.

"I'm working with a lot of green players," Mitchell stated. "But that's the only way we can build for the future and we hope to give some junior players a chance to make the grade."

Mitchell plans to use a varied attack because of his light line and speedy but not too heavy backfield. He has had a good attendance at most of his workouts and the team is expected to be in good shape when Vampires open their season against Drakes on Monday at Macdonald park.

FRY MISSING

Most of the newcomers will be playing their first or second season of Canadian football but Mitchell has a good number of holdovers to work into his rebuilding program. Missing will be husky Joe Fry, a tower of strength in the line who has moved to the Drakes, and Don Brownlee and Bob Copeman, who are both out of football this season.

Wayne Henderson will again direct the attack with rugged Pete Ash, who will share the fullback chores with Cliff Hume, spelling off at the quarterback berth.

Holdover halfbacks are Art Manson and Charley Bishop, both dangerous runners. Frank Bell and Matt Nault. Rangy Al Buchan, an end last season, is being converted into a halfback and Mitchell also has Dode French, last season with the Drakes, and Gary Thornley, who has played for Vancouver Blue Bombers, as halfbacks.

KNIGHT MAY RETURN

Returning ends will be Cliff Hooper, Rick McVie and Jim Baldwin and there is a possibility that Keith Knight will return to Victoria from Edmonton in time for the grid season.

There is plenty of new talent in the line. New guards include George Winter, Ron Pearce, George Giles and Doug Riley, who played varsity football in the U.S. last year; centres Gordy Kellett from Regina and Ken Silburn, and tackles Lloyd Ward and Al Elphick. Dave Martin, an ex-Navy lineman and Gerry Sylvester, who turned out with Vampires several seasons ago, are listed as new flankers.

Holdover linemen will be Al Marx, centre; Jack Shields and Jim Bligh at guard and tackles Norm Lidstone and Gordie Gordienko, one of the top men in the league last season who was given a tryout with B.C. Lions.

Legion Takes Baseball Title

COURTENAY—Courtenay Legion, which won the Vancouver Island baseball title recently by defeating Farmer Construction of Victoria, took the British Columbia title last week-end by edging Vancouver White Spots in a best-of-three final.

Legion, which dropped the first game of its Island final to Farmers but came back to win the next two, also had to come from behind against the White Spots. Courtenay dropped the first game, 5-4, but tied the series with a 10-4 victory and took the deciding game, 5-3.

Davis Clubs Mat Partner; Loses Bout

Ski Hi Lee and Wee Willie Davis who, as tag team partners, have fought everyone within reach in two previous matches, ended a riotous friendship during the main event of last night's professional wrestling card at Memorial Arena.

After splitting the first two falls of their bout with Ken Kenneth and Timothy Geoghagen, Davis and Lee had an argument that ended in a brawl and eventually cost them the match. Davis started things off when he accidentally hit his towering partner. Lee apparently didn't think it was an accident, for he started swinging immediately.

When Lee was thrown out of the ring later in the match, Davis refused to take his place. He went down and tried to push Lee back under the ropes, and when persuasion didn't work, he clobbered his partner with a metal chair. Meanwhile, the two referees awarded the fall to Kenneth and Geoghagen.

The two fighters continued their brawl after the match was over. They finally retired to the dressing room, where the battle continued until Lee was thrown out.

In other matches, Gordie Gordienko defeated Mike Belton in a one-fall bout, while Al McCreadie took the deciding fall from Don Kindred in the semi-main event.

Chicago White Sox rode back into first place in the bristling American League race Tuesday night, gaining a half-game lead with a 7-5 victory over Boston Red Sox. New York fell from the top spot with a 4-3 setback at Kansas City that dropped the Yankees into a second-place tie with Cleveland Indians, who disposed of Baltimore 7-4.

White Sox made it with five unearned runs on four Boston errors after trailing 4-2 at one stage. Two tainted runs drew them even at 4-4 in the fourth, but they had to come back again after Ted Williams, crossing up the "Williams' shift," doubled Boston into a 5-4 lead in the sixth.

Williams donated the big bobble to Chicago, muffing Nellie Fox' liner for a two-base error in the sixth after Chico Carrasquel had reached first on a muff by Billy Klaus. George Kell then smacked a triple and Minnie Minoso, hitting in his 23rd consecutive game, singled home the insurance run.

SPILLS YANKS

Reliefer Millard Howell held the Red Sox to three hits over the last five innings for his seventh victory in 10 decisions.

A solo home run by Hector Lopez in the fifth spilled the Yanks at Kansas City. The big blow, off Bob Grim, the third and losing New York hurler, broke up a 3-3 tie.

Alex Kellner picked up his 10th victory, checking the Yankees on five hits.

Rookie Rip Coleman started for the Yanks, but left in the third when Vic Power homered, Gus Zernial doubled and Harry Simpson singled.

Cleveland edged up as Bob Lemon, despite giving 12 hits, won his 15th of the season. Don Mossi fanned the last batter after Baltimore had hit two singles with two away in the ninth.

WALKS HELP

Jim Wilson's eight walks in seven innings carried the Indians in. They turned four of the passes into runs.

In the other AL game, Detroit defeated Washington 4-0 as Billy Hoeft won his 14th on a four-hitter, all singles. Bill Tuttle and Frank House smacked two-run homers off loser Pedro Ramos.

In the National League, Brooklyn went 13 games ahead again, shelling second-place Milwaukee Braves 8-6. Don Newcombe, after losing three straight, won his 19th although leaving after six frames when a muscle tightened in his back.

Roy Campanella hit a pair of homers and Duke Snider had one for the Brooks. Homers by Bobby Thomson, Johnny Logan and George Crowe got the Braves' runs home.

New York Giants ended a five-game losing streak with a twi-night doubleheader sweep against Cincinnati 5-0 and 9-7. Four of the first game runs were unearned. Ted Kluszewski upped his major league lead with his 42nd and 43rd home runs, while Willie Mays tied Snider for second with his 39th and 40th in the nightcap.

Chicago Cubs dumped Philadelphia 3-1 as Hal Jeffcoat put down a Phillies' rally in the eighth to save Sam Jones' 12th victory. St. Louis finished off a 1-0 decision over Pittsburgh in the completion of a suspended game, then lost to the Bucs in a regularly-scheduled contest 3-1. Harvey Haddix (11-14) won the first, lost the second.

Timbermen, Rocks Clash Again Tonight

Nanaimo Timbermen, the 1955 Inter-City Lacrosse League champions who went into the Western Canada finals against Victoria slight favorites, will find themselves in a tough situation tonight when they host the Rocks in the third game of the best-of-seven series.

It will be almost do or die for the Timbermen tonight and it could be the final home appearance for Arnie Dugan's squad this season. The Rocks hold a 2-0 edge in the series and will be gunning for their third straight victory—a whopping margin to carry back to Memorial arena for the fourth game Friday night.

However, the Timbermen can't be counted out of the series yet. They will be playing before a capacity crowd of home-town rooters tonight and Dugan, far from pleased over his club's performance in the first two games, is reported to have shaken his team up a bit for the crucial third contest.

Shamrock coach Red McMillan plans no lineup changes for tonight. That means that the forward combinations will be Archie Browning, Larry Booth and Jack Bionda; Whitey Severson, Jack Northup and Al Davies, and Arnie Ferguson, Bob Dobbie and Pee Wee Bradshaw.

On defence will be Nip O'Hearn and Bob Monaghan, and Bill Bamford and Lew Landess, while Geordie Johnston will be in goal.

GILL TO REST

Al Gill worked out with the club last night and said his injured knee "felt good." However, he still felt a bit of pain and McMillan decided to give the forward a couple of days more rest.

McMillan is expecting a tough battle tonight—the toughest so far. "They will be giving everything they've got," he said.

The Rocks came from behind with four goals in the final quarter for a 15-13 win in the important opening game at Nanaimo, then followed up with an easier 14-8 triumph at Memorial arena Monday night.

Lions Drop Williams As Clubs Cut Squads

Winnipeg Blue Bombers and British Columbia Lions chopped a total of 11 imports from their rosters last night in order to reach the Western Interprovincial Football Union's import quota of 12 before the midnight deadline.

Calgary Stampeders and Edmonton Eskimos named their 12 imports Monday night, while no word of Saskatchewan's import cut was heard before the midnight deadline because the team was en route to Regina from Vancouver by train.

There were few surprises in the cuts made by the four clubs. The Lions lopped eight imports off their roster including quarterback Ron Pinchback, halfbacks Jim Garratt and Frank Williams; ends Mac Speedie and Dick Paciaroni; guards Kirby Miller and Joe DeLuca, and 205-pound linebacker Bob McEachern.

Speedie, acquired from Regina before the start of the season, was dropped because he suffered torn knee ligaments in Monday night's game and will be lost to the club for the season.

Winnipeg coach Al Sherman pulled a bit of a surprise when he named an untried quarterback as one of his 12 imports. Slated to join Winnipeg from the training camp of Chicago Cardinals is Billy Hooper, quarterback last year for Baylor University.

Chopped from the Winnipeg roster were centre Gene Mears from Oklahoma, tackle Mario DeRe from USC and halfback Billy Robinson from Lincoln College.

ENGELS RELEASED

Three quarterbacks and a running halfback were released by Calgary. Ronnie Morris and Tom Dickerson, both graduates of Tulsa University and Don Engels, who came to Stamps from Baltimore Colts, were the signal-callers given the gate.

Jim Hook, formerly with the University of Missouri, was the other player released.

The Grey Cup champion Edmonton squad kept six returnees and six newcomers as their imports. Dropped from the team were Tom Kalmanir, Eddie Merchant, Hal Reeve, Ken McCullough, Jerry Johnson and Dean White.

Complete list of imports retained, team by team, follows:

Vancouver—Quarterback Arnold Galiffa, quarter-halfback Ron Clinkscale, wingback By Bailey, fullback Al Pollard, halfbacks Oil Bartosh and Primo Villanueva, ends Sam Adams and Dan Edwards, tackles Laurie Niemi and Don George, guards Chuck Quilter and Bob Levenhagen.

Winnipeg — Halfbacks George Blinti, Leo Lewis and Tom Casey, quarterback Buddy Leake, fullback Pat Oleksiak, ends Bud Grant and Al Bruno, centre Floyd Harrawood, tackles Dick Huffman, Buddy Tinsley and Stavros Canakes, and quarterback Billy Hooper.

Calgary—Quarterback Don Klosterman, halfbacks Fred Tenne, Dominic Moselle and Bob Meyers, tackles Ed Henke, Burdette Hess, Bob Morgan and Gordon Brown, ends Tom Miner, Don Luft, Bill McKenna and Willie Robert.

Edmonton—Quarterback Jackie Parker, halfbacks Earl Lindsey and Rollie Miles, fullback Johnny Bright, ends Rupe Andrews, Bob Heydenfeldt and Frankie Anderson, tackles Dale Meinert and Bob Dean, guards Art Walker and Don Gianis, and centre Kurt Burris.

B.C. Lawn Bowlers Win As Dominion Play Opens

HAMILTON (CP) — British Columbia bowlers swept to victories in singles and doubles events in opening-day round-robin competition of the Canadian lawn bowling championships here Tuesday.

Only two other provinces, Ontario and Alberta, were able to score two wins. In the rinks division, a Toronto foursome skipped by T. H. Mead defeated Manitoba's team skipped by F. Fenwick 19-18 and defeated Fred Ellis' British Columbia team 18-17.

S. R. Shield's Alberta rink defeated J. Langstaff's Saskatchewan quartette, 22-18, in the first round. Edmonton's foursome edged the Manitoba rink 18-15 in the afternoon.

Championships are decided on a total-points basis. There are two points for each victory. One point is awarded in case of a draw.

Jack Hunter of Vancouver was the most impressive bowler. He easily defeated E. B. Brown of Manitoba 21-6 in 13 ends. In his second singles game he drubbed Dr. Charles Brereton of Toronto 21-6 in 16 ends.

The Vancouver doubles team of John Lang and Harvie Wheant posted two wins, defeating Belleville's Bruce Miller and Gordon Watkins 25-18. They also defeated Manitoba representatives R. M. Halsall and E. W. Munro 30-21.

Trabert Tops Seedings

NEW YORK (UP)—Tony Trabert has been seeded first for the national singles tennis championships although Vic Seixas, his Davis cup team mate, is the defending champion in the men's singles division.

Seixas of Philadelphia was seeded behind the Cincinnati power hitter for the 10-day grind which will begin Friday at the west side tennis club.

Ham Richardson, the Davis cupper from Baton Rouge, La., was seeded third on the domestic list. Gil Shea, Ed Moylan, Art Larsen, Bernard Bartzen, and Herb Flam completed the domestic rankings in that order.

AUSSIES DOMINATE

The Australians, fresh from their shutout triumph over the United States in the Davis cup challenge round, dominated the foreign seedings. Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad, the Sydney stars, were seeded 1-2. Kurt Nielsen of Denmark was seeded third and Rex Hartwig, the other Aussie cup star, fourth.

Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., the defending champion in women's singles, topped the seedings in that division. Louise Brough was placed second and Beverly Baker Fleitz third. Then came Dorothy Head Knode, Barbara Davidson and Shirley Fry.

Angelia Mortimer, Shirley Bloomer, Angelia Buxton and Pat Ward of England were seeded 1-2-3-4 among the foreign women.

ONLY A LONG SHOT

Seixas, 32-year-old men's champion from Philadelphia, seems to be only a long shot to retain his crown. After a poor season, Seixas took a walloping in two singles matches and one doubles during the Davis Cup series, which saw the Australians sweep the United States, 5-0.

Hoad, the blond strong man of the Aussie crew, appears a hot courtside favorite to win the crown with teammates Ken Rosewall and Rex Hartwig also drawing many supporters.

Trabert, 25-year-old Wimbledon champion from Cincinnati, O., who won the title here in 1953, is the only American given a chance to stop the Aussies. And Trabert, beaten by Hoad in one cup match and withdrawn from another because of blisters on his racquet hand, is strictly a question mark.

EDDIE ARCARO

Royals Travel, But Joe Stays

Saanich council Monday night refused Joe Robbins leave of absence to play for New Westminster Royals in the Dominion soccer championships.

The veteran fullback requested leave from September 6 to October 3 in the event of the B.C. team fighting its way to the final at Toronto.

Several councillors were reluctant to endorse the recommendation of their fire chief, who said he could not spare Robbins during a bad fire-hazard period and at a time when another department member had resigned.

Old, New in Racing Clash Today In $100,000 Gallop at Chicago

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — When Swaps and Nashua hook up in their $100,000 winner-take-all gallop today it will be more than merely the East against the West.

In every fact it is the old ways and the old days of horse racing against a modern challenge from across the great divide.

It is a race, this mile and a quarter match at Chicago's Washington park, which sharply contrasts people and two ways of life.

CARRIES TRADITIONS

Nashua, the Dude of Belair, carries the traditions of the past on his burly bay shoulders. For here is a colt which represents all the ancient traditions of stately Kentucky breeding.

Swaps, the chestnut rival who beat him a length and a half in the Kentucky derby, is California bred. As such he is the product of a new and vigorously challenging branch of the thoroughbred industry.

William Woodward, Jr., Nashua's owner, is the cultured scion of a long-established banking clan who inherited one of the world's most powerful stables. Rex Ellsworth, the man who owns Swaps, made the journey from log cabin to mansion in Horatio Alger style.

"Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, Nashua's 81-year-old trainer, is a fixture of the racing world and a master at readying the "big" horses. Meshach Tenney, his rival of the paddock, is a one-time Arizona cow puncher you probably never heard of until this year.

ONE OF GREATEST

Up on the Dude of Belair will be Eddie Arcaro, at 39 still one of the greatest of the little men in silks but a veteran of the old order. Meanwhile, up on Swaps to carry out the theme of the new era, is 24-year-old Willie Shoemaker, named by Arcaro as his heir apparent.

Arcaro has promised that "Willie the Shoe" will "make them forget us old timers." That well could be the theme of this match race of East vs. West and the old vs. the new.

There is a hunch here that Nashua, a 7-to-5 second choice in man-to-man wagering, will win this one for the days of auld lang syne.

Everything seemingly favors the speedball of the Sloppy Up beat Nashua in the derby, has been posting phenomenal times both in his races and in his workouts, has been on the Chicago scene longer and has been campaigning on the type of hard, fast track over which they will come to grips.

The advance theory is that Swaps will go on to top when they break from the barrier and defy Nashua to catch him.

TAKES BLAME

That's what he did in the derby at Churchill Downs. But "Sunny Jim," without attempting to alibi for Nashua's Rose run performance, has taken the blame for his colt's lone three-year-old setback. Down in old Kentucky, according to Mr. Fitz, he was worried about Summer Tan and ignored the jump which Swaps took.

These are two great colts. Swaps has won all eight of his races this year. He passed up the Preakness and Belmont, both taken by Nashua for an 8 and 1 record marred only by his derby defeat. The question now is whether Nashua, concentrating on one rival, can collar Swaps going down to the wire.

I think he can.

Sooke won the B.C. junior boys' softball championship Sunday by sweeping the first two games of a best-of-three series against Kelowna.

First game of the final, played at Sooke, was called because of darkness at the end of nine innings Saturday, with the score tied, 1-1. The game was continued Sunday morning and Sooke pushed across a run in the third extra inning to win, 2-1.

Sooke went on to take the crown with an 8-5 triumph in the second game.

'Major' Soccer Plan Gets Good Reception

BY ARCH MACKENZIE

LONDON (CP)—The idea of a super English soccer league may be put shortly to a combined meeting of the English Football League, the Football Association and the Players' Union.

The concept of a 16-team major league, featuring the cream of playing and training talent now spread over the 92 clubs of the Football League, belongs to Sir Stanley Rous. He's the secretary of the FA and he made the suggestion on his own for discussion purposes.

Reaction has been predominantly favorable, what with national concern that something has to be done quickly to get back on top in the international football picture.

DOUBLE WAGES

The Rous plan calls for wages double the present weekly maximum of £15—a restoration of incentive in order to provide a player pool from which the national team could be drawn.

League restrictions on training a national team would be dissolved. The present league would probably be reorganized and football become a lot brighter.

"Now players are all on the same sort of level," argues Sir Stanley. "If we have a national league, ambitious players would work harder and train harder to get into it.

"With first-class trainers, coaches and managers we could soon train our brilliant young players into world-class stars. It's only what goes on in other countries such as Hungary and Russia, who are proving more successful than England at football at present."

The Football League is not expected to accede easily to a plan which would strip it of its brightest teams and stars.

"But the Football League has utterly failed English soccer," comments sports editor Pat Reekie of The Daily Mail. "It has become near-sighted, selfish and jealous . . . Its insistence on restricted two up, two down promotion and relegation, with the constant scramble for points, has developed a defensive type of football."

Court Dismisses Lashing Suspects

NYERI, Kenya (Reuters)—Murder charges against two young police inspectors accused of beating a native theft suspect to death with a rhinoceros hide whip were dismissed in court Tuesday. Anthony Peter Fuller, 22 - year - old Briton, and 23-year-old Irishman Ormonde Dominick Patrick Waters pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of causing grievous bodily harm to the African, named Kamau, after a doctor testified that death from natural causes was possible.

BRITISH COLUMBIA TELEPHONE COMPANY

A big plus... exclusive with Chevron!

"Detergent-Action" plus New power!

+ new power... the highest octane in Chevron history is now yours... thanks to another development at Standard's refineries. It's an all-new gasoline process that means more power for today's high-compression engines—more knock-free reserves for mountain grades, stop-and-go town driving, and the open road!

+ "Detergent-Action"... this Chevron exclusive cleans away carburetor deposits while you drive... ends the biggest cause of engine trouble! And Chevron gasolines are now specially refined to control a major source of harmful combustion acids... to preserve the life and power of your engine up to 135% longer!

+ balanced performance... you get not 1, not 2, but every gasoline feature: increased gas mileage, smooth idling, and stall-prevention with "Detergent-Action" + fast starting + quick warm-up + surging acceleration + extra power + high anti-knock + area blending + rust and corrosion prevention + vapor-lock protection + longer engine life.

Chevron Supreme for knock-free performance in high-compression cars;

Chevron Regular for peak power in engines with lower octane requirements.

There's only one way to prove performance: on the road. Judge for yourself—try a tankful today!

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices were generally steady in dull trading on the Montreal bond markets.

Oils Do Best As Market Turns Dull

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved down a peg Tuesday on the thinnest day's business this year.

Industrials eased a fraction on the group's index, but a few individual gains outshone the losses. Profit-taking pulled most of the recently active base metals down. Uraniums posted a string of narrow losses, but showed the odd improvement. Western oils were a little better. Most changes in golds and holding companies were on the downside.

Most senior base metals lost fractions. Eastern Smelting and Refining dropped 50 to $6.05 after steady gains in recent sessions.

Among uraniums, Pronto warrants lost 40 at $5.50. Other losses seldom went beyond 10 cents.

Eddy Up $5

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices fluctuated in moderately active dealings at the close of the stock market Tuesday.

Eddy A jumped 5½ to 73½, Weston 3 to 111, Ford 3 to 136, Algoma 1½ to 77½, Shawinigan a point to 73½ and Anglo-Canadian Pulp a point to 48½.

There were losses of a point in Noranda at 60, International Nickel at 84 and Hudson Bay at 67¾. Walker dipped ⅜ to 75⅛.

Papers and utilities drifted to higher territory while base metals slumped. Mines were narrowly mixed.

Spurt by Aircraft

NEW YORK (AP) — Aircrafts spurted to give an otherwise hesitant stock market a spark of life Tuesday. Gains in aircrafts ran to as much as 5 points but other major divisions showed only fractional price changes.

Among Canadian issues, International Nickel lost ⅝ to 85⅝. Canadian Pacific, Distillers-Seagrams and Dome Mines were unchanged.

Gas Stocks Favored

VANCOUVER—Oil shares came in for some moderate attention, with northern gas stocks all making advances. Peace River Natural Gas was $9.50, Pacific Pete $11⅝, Vantor 87 cents and Yankee Princess 70 cents.

Also higher were Federated at $5.10 and United at $1.60.

Sunshine Lardeau at 36 cents made a small gain among mines, while Silbak Premier held firm at 23 cents.

Industrials were steady.

Expected Car Price Boost Will Neutralize Reduction

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Nineteen fifty-five may rank as [illegible] Canadian automobiles.

Because of reduction in excise tax, and equalization of freight charges in western Canada, the 1955 popular models cost about $150 less to the purchaser than similar models of 1954.

When the 1956 models come along later this year, it is expected that factory costs will be considerably increased.

One local distributor believes that the price of popular models may be increased by more than $100, thus neutralizing most of the 1955 reductions.

Reason for the belief is the increased costs of raw materials required by the industry, and by the spread of the guaranteed annual wage contract signed this summer by General Motors and Ford.

Since last year the price of of steel in the form of billets, bars and plates has advanced $7.50 a ton. The price of copper has jumped 14 cents a pound.

In a car of a ton and a half, the added cost of fabricated steel and copper alone is reckoned at anything up to $30.

The amount required to meet the new wage scale has yet to be determined, but it is likely to be considerably more than the added cost of materials.

The motor manufacturers do not know what their factory prices will be until they have run off several hundred of the new models but the experts in the industry do not think the retail price increase can be anything less than 6 per cent, and it might be 10.

Asked if anything could be done to hold the line in prices by model alterations, a local distributor said it was quite certain that nothing would be done at the sacrifice of efficiency and safety.

A similar situation exists with all manufacturers of goods using metals as their raw materials, but how long it will be before the new prices are reflected in the finished article is anyone's guess.

U.S. BUYS CANADIAN

The growth of the United States stake in the post-war development of Canada was emphasized by E. T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange in a talk to [illegible] ciation of Security Administrators in Vancouver yesterday.

Since 1945 and up to the end of 1954 the U.S. total investment in Canada increased $4,557,000,000, to a total of $9,547,000,000.

Of this amount $3,396,000,000 was an increase in direct investments, of which $1,897,000,000 was new capital and $1,499,000,000 represented reinvested earnings in Canadian properties.

Mr. McCormick explained that the American Exchange in New York was the main vehicle for the trading of Canadian stocks in the U.S.

In 1954 the American Exchange listed 95 Canadian stocks, traded 41,596,955 Canadian shares or 25 per cent of the total business done.

The big worry to U.S. handlers of Canadian securities was the small minority of fringe operating security dealers whose tactics "have been exceedingly non-ethical if not downright fraudulent."

Mr. McCormick said that the cleansing of the Augean stables could probably not be completely wiped out by legislation, as the "brazen amorality of certain dealers is more than matched by the gullibility of many American citizens."

Today the National Association of Securities Administrators continue its conference in Victoria.

Going to the United States?

Even for a short trip, you will save yourself money and trouble by getting U.S. cash or U.S. Dollar Travellers Cheques from your nearest Bank of Montreal branch before you leave. With Canada's currency at a premium, you can obtain the U.S. dollars you need at a worthwhile discount.

If you don't do this, you run the risk of not getting your money's-worth, for often it is not practicable for merchants and others south of the border to allow the premium.

For trips of longer duration—to the U.S. or anywhere else—your B of M manager will be glad to advise you about the best and safest way to carry your travel funds and to extend the services of our foreign branches and world-wide network of banking correspondents.

When you travel, look to Canada's First Bank for your money's-worth in travel funds.

Ship Strike Necessitates Pupil Airlift

PORT ALBERNI—Youngsters whose grandparents did their travelling by canoe are being brought by airlift for the opening of the term at Alberni Indian residential school.

"Operation Classroom" is already under way as the 60 or 70 pupils from up coast points are transported in groups of six.

The flights from points as far north as the Skeena and Naas rivers were arranged when it was apparent that the Union Steamship strike would not be settled in time for the students to make the trip in the usual manner and be settled before opening of the term on Sept. 6.

First to arrive back at the school overlooking Somass river were Queen Charlotte island pupils.

Travelling by Canadian Pacific Airlines to Port Hardy, the boys and girls are then brought by Pacific Western Airlines to Comox where they are met by cars and drivers from the residential school.

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—Members of the chamber of commerce fishing team caught 209 pounds of fish in a two-day fishing contest with Courtenay during the week-end to decide which area has the best fishing. Winners will dine on steaks and the losers on beans, according to rules laid down at the start of the contest. Each side is allowed a fishing team of 20 members.

PORT ALBERNI — School board members are looking forward with some trepidation to term opening here. Certain that enrollment will be up considerably, trustees will not know until Sept. 6 just how the situation stands.

At this week's board meeting, secretary-treasurer A. F. Taylor told of new residents coming to register their children for school.

He reassured trustees by stating "I think we'll have room for them all."

CAMPBELL RIVER—Two loggers and a fisherman are in Lourdes Hospital here for treatment of injuries received in separate mishaps Monday and Tuesday.

James Andrews, 27, of Vancouver, was flown to hospital by B.C. Airlines pilot Dave Alder suffering from severe burns to his chest, face and arms sustained in a boomboat explosion at Port Neville Logging Co. operations, 52 miles north of here.

Pilot Alder completed a second mercy flight when his plane was flagged down as he was returning from a flight to Bute inlet. He picked up Robert Prendergast, 19, at the Prendergast and Turner logging operations on Stuart island. Young Prendergast received shoulder injuries when he fell on a log.

Alan McPherson, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McPherson, was brought to hospital here early yesterday suffering from head injuries received when he was struck by a block aboard the seiner Z Bros.

GANGES — Various Salt Spring island organizations, under the convenorship of Mrs. V. G. Best, cleared $175.24 in a recent tag day for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Buttle Lake Speaker

NANAIMO—Campbell River author and magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown is expected to speak about Buttle lake at the general meeting of Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association in the Legion hall here Sept. 10.

Main items on the agenda will be "Why dam Buttle Lake?" "A new approach to relieve school taxation from land," "E and N Railway report of the railways' use of subsidies," and "Setting up government survey markers."

THETIS ISLAND—Close to 300 people, including 70 who flew in by plane, were on hand here during the week-end for the dedication service for Pioneer Pacific Camp.

The camp is sponsored by the inter-varsity Christian Fellowship. The service was taken by Rev. Robert Birch of Vancouver and Rev. James Forrester of Los Angeles.

NANAMO — A juvenile appeared in juvenile court here yesterday before juvenile court Judge Lionel Beevor-Potts, charged with operating a motor vehicle without a driver's licence. He was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty. The youth explained to the court that he had just got a job on the outskirts of town and was to have gone to work with another employee who unfortunately had changed shifts. He therefore felt he had to take a chance and drive the family car rather than be late for his newly-acquired job.

Consideration Needed

Better West Coast Steamer Service Sought

Plea for a better steamer service for the west coast of Vancouver Island was voiced yesterday by Maj. George Nicholson in a brief to the royal commission on the coastal trade.

He called upon the crown to build a combination passenger and freight steamer specially for the run with accomodation for at least 50 passengers and facilities for handling all types of cargoes.

This ship would resume the run of the old Princess Maquinna between Vancouver and either Quatsino Sound or Chamiss Bay.

An alternative suggestion by Maj. Nicholson was that the CPR and the Unio Steamship Company jointly operate a suitable ship between Vancouver and Port Alice.

He said in either case, if considered necessary, the operating companies should be given the assistance of a government subsidy.

"The service now provided by the Princess of Alberni is neither adequate . . . nor capable of taking care of the traffic," Maj. Nicholson told the three commissioners.

For more than 40 years up to 1953, he continued, the Maquinna made a round trip every 10 days calling at some 20 communities northbound and southbound. The Princess of Alberni makes the same calls northbound but only two southbound.

The Maquinna had stateroom accomodation for 174 passengers while the Princess of Alberni has accomodation for eight.

"The Princess of Alberni is a fishpacker," said Maj. Nicholson. "Rather she is a sister ship of a fish packer."

Questioned by commission counsel D. W. Mundell, Maj. Nicholson conceded that a regular run would not be economically as feasible as the former run of the Maquinna.

"Air services have taken about 75 per cent of the passenger trade away," he admitted, "but a smaller ship with a minimum accommodation for 50 people would always be booked out."

"They're not city drones up there," he added. "They're all people . . . entitled to a little consideration."

Although access roads to Port Renfrew and Tofino would be built by the end of 1956 a large proportion of freight would still be shipped by steamer, Maj. Nicholson maintained.

There might be less business for a ship if the roads paralleled the entire west coast. But this was impossible, he said.

Maj. Nicholson's brief was backed by the Ucluelet-Port Albion Chamber of Commerce, Tofino Chamber of Commerce, Zeballos Board of Trade, and Ivan H. Clarke of Hot Springs Cove.

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Delegate to the Vancouver island civil defence forum here in October will be received by their hosts as "evacuees" and will be fed and clothed by the Nanaimo civil defence unit.

He was committed for trial after a police court hearing March 18.

Permission To Prosecute

Application to prosecute the Greater Victoria school board has been made to the Labor Relations Board by Greater Victoria School Board Employees' Association (TLC).

The union alleges the board refused to set up a grievance committee under a contract clause.

The dispute stems from a recent appointment by the board.

Richard Reeve, chairman of the school board committee involved in the dispute, said last night: "I have been away for a week but so far as I know there have been no recent developments.

"We shall probably resume talks in a day or so," he said. "It is true that the dispute originally concerned an appointment by the board, but it is now a little more general."

Blind Seek Universal Allowance

A resolution requesting the federal government to provide a universal allowance separate from allowances now being provided to all adult blind was unanimously endorsed by the Canadian Council of the Blind in convention here yesterday.

Delegates agreed that the allowance should be made to compensate in part for the extra and unavoidable cost of living of the blind.

The federal government recognizes the provision but so far the allowance is granted only to the war-blinded. The full allowance plan is in effect in several countries.

Twenty-two delegates from coast to coast are in Victoria for the four-day convention.

Election of officers will be held today, and a banquet is planned tonight at the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Towing Firm Expansion Tied To Free Choice of Purchase

Growth of one of the largest towing concerns in B.C. has only been possible through the purchase of foreign-built ships, it was stated yesterday.

[illegible] M. Prentice, secretary-treasurer of [illegible] Log and Barge Ltd., gave evidence to this effect in a brief presented to the royal commission on coastal trade [illegible] yesterday.

Mr. Gerry asked the witness if he considered B.C. shipyards efficient.

[illegible]

At Monday's hearings evidence was given on behalf of the shipbuilding industry by Harold Husband of Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd. and [illegible] A. Wallace of Yarrows Ltd.

They made these main points:

- That any serious decrease in shipbuilding [illegible] would create a hardship to the community.
- In developing designs of new naval ships many technicians were employed in industry remote from the shipyards.
- Development problems and benefits in the shipbuilding industry were the same as from the electronics and aircraft industries which are considered a necessity.
- As laws now stand it is impossible for Canadian yards to compete with Britain for Canada's own coastal shipping contracts.
- Advocated restriction of coastal shipping to those ships built and registered in Canada.

Trip to Banff Follows Wedding

A white prayer book which [illegible] on her wedding day was carried by Marguerite Lillian Monk when she became the bride of Mr. Lawrence A. Patterson on Saturday evening.

Rev. Canon Frederic Pike solemnized the marriage in St. [illegible] which was decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and marguerites, for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Monk, 1233 [illegible] road, and the son of Mrs. E. R. Patterson, [illegible] avenue, [illegible].

St. Paul's Anglican church, Vancouver, was the scene Monday afternoon of a wedding of wide interest in ballet and the [illegible] circles.

Principals were Miss Neeta Carol Carter and Mr. William McGrath, both former leading dancers with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, who have danced with Theatre Under the Stars for the past three seasons and are well known for their ballet and television appearances across the country.

The petite dark-haired bride, daughter of Mrs. Arthur H. B. Carter, Winnipeg, was given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Arthur H. B. Carter. Her exquisite gown fashioned on ballerina lines with bouffant skirt was of imported white lace over taffeta, the long sleeved bodice with [illegible] from a sweetheart decolletage and encrusted with seed pearls and sequins. A tiny crown of seed pearls and sequins held her misty veil of silk illusion and she carried a small bouquet of white orchids tied with white streamers entwined with mauve violets.

Ballerina gowns of silk organza with bell-full skirts were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Margot Coome and Miss Peggy Rae Norman. Homesick . . .

Swiss Scenery Like Saanich According to Victoria Girl

Dee Lavoie, member of the Colonist editorial staff now holidaying on the Continent with a friend from Montreal, writes from Switzerland.

By DEE LAVOIE

STECKBORN, Switzerland — Switzerland is so much like Vancouver Island that it's making me homesick.

I'd had the idea that Switzerland was all Alps and chalets, but the little town of Steckborn on the shore of Lake Constance is in an area that looks very much like Saanich.

There is the same rolling farmlands and orchards, the same type of flower gardens, and even the houses look much more Canadian than any other European ones I've seen.

And there's a point in the lake that looks exactly like Ten Mile point.

We came here from Innsbruck to spend a week-end and we realized that Switzerland was going to be different as soon as we started on the [illegible] train changes that brought us to this out-of-the-way place.

Swiss trains, besides being very clean, actually have conductors, a refinement other European trains just don't possess.

These helpful chaps give you [illegible] schedule information and the names of stations on the route and help with suitcases.

Lake Constance isn't really called Lake Constance at all, we found out, or even Lake Konstanz. Konstanz is the name of the main town on the lake, which is rimmed with small summer resort towns, but the correct name of the lake is Bodensee.

Our hotel is actually a few miles from Steckborn, but we have walked in. The feeling of being in Canada lapses as soon as you enter the town, for it has the usual cobbled streets and quaint buildings.

But it has some large new very modernistic buildings as well, for Switzerland is one of the most prosperous countries of Europe and there is a great deal of building going on.

We also went to Konstanz, which is half Swiss and half German — you have to produce your passport in the middle of the town.

From there we caught a ferry across the lake to Meersburg, an old German village.

Chief attraction in Meersburg is Meersburg Schloss, the oldest castle in Germany.

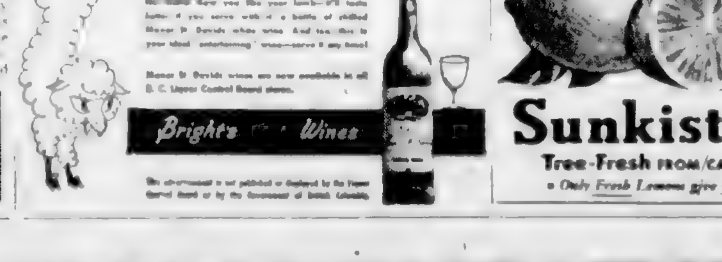

It dates from 628 but is still very well preserved. It's not large, but I found its ancient passages and towers fascinating.

How anyone ever survived a winter in it, I can't imagine. Even in mid-afternoon on a hot August day, there was a damp chill in the main dining hall that had me shivering.

The castle has a later form [illegible].

The [illegible] German poetess Annette von Droste-Hülshoff made her home there for some years and died there in 1848.

[illegible] converted part of the original castle into her own apartment though I really don't think her addition of Doric columns painted on the walls of the towers added to the medieval architecture at all.

New Zoning By-Law

City Council Enters Zone of Contention

BY R. O. MARRION
(Colonist City Hall Reporter)

[illegible] itself with its own procedural [illegible]

Before council, and already given preliminary passage, is a new zoning by-law intended to replace the much-amended zoning by-law which has governed the development of the city since 1929.

Since the by-law will control what an owner may do with his own property, many of its provisions can be expected to be opposed from time to time. Unless council takes further action to comply with its own procedure by-law, one authority suggested yesterday, the validity of the whole zoning by-law might be attacked legally by an opponent.

Another authority disagreed but an examination of council's procedure regulations lent weight to the argument of the first.

CRUX OF MATTER

The crux of the matter is that council is required by its own procedure [illegible]

study. But it has never been studied, clause by clause, by the whole council.

When it was in process of preliminary passage, it was referred to council in committee of the whole, which quickly reported it complete without amendment.

The second authority consulted yesterday observed that aldermen had been able to study the terms of the by-law individually, and could have proposed changes in clauses when the by-law was before committee of the whole. Therefore he said the by-law undoubtedly would be valid.

CLAUSE BY CLAUSE

But the first observed that the city's procedure by-law definitely calls for clause by clause consideration in committee of the whole.

Actually the by-law says in part:

In proceedings in committee of the whole upon by-laws, each clause shall be considered by the committee in its proper order, and then the title.

"The chairman shall read each clause, and put the question forming the [illegible] 'Shall the clause stand part of the [illegible]' [illegible]

TV Talk

By ROY PARRETT

Television fans in England will soon be watching their first commercials on TV. The Independent Television Authority's first television station goes on the air at Croydon Sept. 22 [illegible] commercial broadcasting station.

Others will soon follow in the Midlands and in Lancashire as ITA expands its network designed to bring commercial TV to Great Britain.

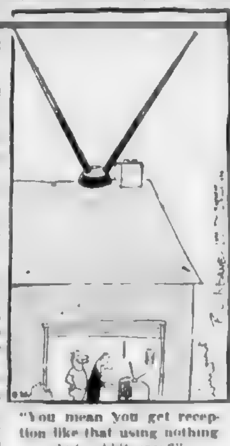

The new TV corporation [illegible] last year [illegible] to be provided by the three new stations but it will not produce programs except in rare cases. ITA's main function will be to own and operate the transmitters.

Strict controls have already been clamped on commercial TV in England. Television advertising there will be a far cry from North American TV efforts. ITA "will see that the programs [illegible] proper balance and observe good taste."

No advertising material will be allowed in programs dealing with religion, royalty or national ceremonies. And spot announcements will be limited to six minutes [illegible].

[illegible] commercial TV service which may add [illegible] a few years, will operate in limited [illegible] to the British Broadcasting Corporation's TV programs. The BBC does not plan to accept advertising at all.

[illegible] the two services will rate with English viewers is anyone's guess at this time.

"You mean you get reception like that using nothing but rabbit ears?"

TV Talk

By ROY PARRETT

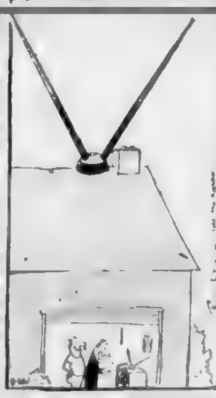

Television fans in England will soon be watching their first commercials on TV. The Independent Television Authority's first television station goes on the air at [illegible] Sept. 22 [illegible] commercial broadcasting station.

Others will soon follow in the Midlands and in Lancashire as ITA expands its network designed to bring commercial TV to Great Britain.

The new TV corporation [illegible] to the [illegible] of the service to be provided by the three new stations but it will not produce programs except in rare cases. ITA's main function will be to own and operate the transmitters.

Strict controls have already been clamped on commercial TV in England. Television advertising there will be a far cry from North American TV efforts. ITA "will see that the programs maintain a proper balance and observe good taste."

No advertising material will be allowed in programs dealing with religion, royalty or national ceremonies. And spot announcements will be limited to six minutes [illegible].

"You mean you get reception like that using nothing but rabbit ears?"

Britain's commercial TV service which may add more stations in a few years will operate in limited competition to the British Broadcasting Corporation TV programs. The BBC does not plan to accept advertising at all.

[illegible] how the two services will rate with English viewers is anyone's guess at this time.

A Bit of B.C. at the CNE

Public Works Minister W. S. Chant and Mrs. Chant were among guests at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto Monday when British Columbia Day was celebrated. They are seen here standing before the B.C. arch on the Avenue of the Provinces, the main boulevard of the exhibition grounds. Flanking them on left and right respectively are F. T. Walsh, CNE first vice-president, and Col. Mackenzie Waters, an exhibition director.

On Nine Issues

Majority Favors Policies

This is the third of a series of articles by Daily Colonist legislative reporter Ray Baines on B.C.'s political situation and relative popularity of the parties. They are the result of poll of 10 ridings taken in May by a public opinion firm, plus a fact-finding tour by Mr. Baines during the summer.

BY RAY BAINES

Only a very small percentage of persons questioned in a public opinion poll of 10 ridings last May expressed disapproval with provincial government policy on nine major issues.

Even with percentages weighted to account for the ridings not polled, dissatisfaction averaged about 8 percent, satisfaction 49 percent and "no opinion" about 35 percent.

The U.S. public opinion firm polled 1,400 persons in 10 "key ridings" and weighted answers to make up for the limited coverage of British Columbia. On this particular question the weighting procedure generally lowered the percentages expressing both satisfaction and dissatisfaction and increased the "no opinion" totals.

The survey organization noted that the "no opinion" people could obviously go either way if asked to vote in an election involving any or all of the issues in question, but the fact that they expressed no opinion could denote tacit approval.

The nine subjects on which the 1,400 persons were questioned were highways, the sales tax revision (increase from 3 to 5 percent), workmen's compensation, the extension of the PGE, labor legislation (introduction of an entirely new Labor Relations Act), forest management licences, liquor legislation and the 10 percent tax on the logging and mining industry.

No public opinion poll ever has been, or ever will be completely accurate. Most are accomplished merely by sampling. This mathematical principle, however, has proved in the past to be a fairly good indication of how things will go in a future election.

If the results are very close, a poll is unreliable. The margin of error is about the same then as the difference of opinion. The famed case of the presidential election in which Mr. Truman was counted out by the Gallup organization but elected by the voters is an example of the unreliability when there is a 48-52 kind of result.

But when results are overwhelmingly one way or the other, there is plenty of room for error. The survey team which conducted the B.C. poll felt pretty safe in concluding that approval far outweighed disapproval of government policy on the nine issues.

'Funny Money'

This reporter found a similar situation in a casual one-man kind of questionnaire during the summer. Most people I spoke to expressed approval of most government policies. Some had individual complaints—the equalization of assessments for example—in their own communities.

One citizen in Vernon said many Canadian Legion clubs were annoyed about liquor legislation which prevented them from having bars at public functions, one of their chief sources of revenue.

Many didn't like Social Credit because they were afraid of "funny money." They didn't know quite what it was but they felt tampering with the monetary system was a bad thing.

Often the local impact of government policy was of more concern than the over-all effect. This had some amusing results.

Several people who said they were Liberals on Vancouver Island, for example, considered the proposed suspension bridge across Okanagan lake at Kelowna a purely political move by Premier Bennett to curry favor in his own riding.

But a Liberal in Kelowna told me the bridge was a good thing, that it was needed, that the present ferry service was losing enormous amounts of money. But he felt reconstruction of the road along Kalamalka lake between Vernon and Kelowna should take precedence over the one being constructed into Kamloops.

The U.S. survey team found a great variety in the reasons for the answers given. They, of course, concluded that this did not make any difference to the percentages. How a man marks his ballot is of more consequence than why.

Some of the most consistent were the CCF supporters. They usually expressed belief in the fundamental ideas of socialism while many of the Social Credit supporter just liked the men in government and the things they were doing.

But it was interesting in the results of the U.S. poll to see what knowledge the respondents had of alternatives offered by other parties. Asked what changes the CCF would make, 17 per cent said socialism, others gave various reasons but 64 per cent had no opinion.

In the case of the Liberals, 2 per cent said they would repeat their past record, 17 per cent said they wouldn't make any changes and 72 per cent had no opinion, others

Britain Stands Fast

LONDON (CP) — Britain told Greece and Turkey Tuesday she intends to hold Cyprus as long as she has responsibility for defending the Middle East.

Diplomatic informants said this was the gist of a statement made by Britain's Harold Macmillan at a secret session of British, Greek and Turkish foreign ministers who are discussing the future of the east Mediterranean island. The informants included delegates who sat in on the talks.

In his speech, described as being conciliatory yet firm, Macmillan called on Stephen Stephenopolous of Greece and Fatin Rustu Zorlu of Turkey to seek a reconciliation of their attitudes on the Cyprus question.

"COMMON INTEREST"

The British foreign secretary said it is in the common interest of the three powers to work together if the Middle East is to be defended effectively against the possibility of external aggression and internal upheaval.

PARIS (Reuters)—France today will fly one of her toughest veterans of colonial wars into riot-racked Morocco to take over the post of resident-general vacated by Gilbert Grandval.

The choice, learned definitely Tuesday, is Gen. Pierre Boyer de la Tour, 59, resident-general in Tunisia, who 30 years ago, as a junior officer, led French soldiers in a Moroccan war to subdue rebellious Riff tribesmen.

As de la Tour said goodbye to the Bey of Tunis, the Paris government announced that France will mobilize another 180,000 servicemen in a buildup of defences in Morocco and adjoining Algeria, which was also rocked by a bloody rebellion 10 days ago.

Reinforcements were rushed into Casablanca Tuesday as new terrorist attacks and scattered acts of sabotage were reported.

In Rabat, terrorists set fire to a Moroccan house and two bodies were found in the charred ruins. At Port Lyautey, a pro-French truck driver was injured by a pistol shot.

What Will Irish Say?

DUBLIN (UP)—U.S. Congressman John E. Fogarty (D-R.I.) said yesterday the United States had as much right to intervene on the partition of Ireland as it had in relation to "Korea, Germany, Austria or Egypt."

Police Seeking Man

Five Members of Family Shot To Death on Farm

Bullet-Pierced Bodies Found

MELVILLE, SASK. (CP) — Five members of one family were found shot to death on a farm at Fenwood, 22 miles west of this eastern Saskatchewan town Tuesday.

RCMP said they were seeking a man for questioning in connection with the multiple slaying.

Police found the bullet-pierced bodies of two women in the farm yard. The bodies of a father and his two children were found in the farm home.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Harry Petlock, 70, a widow; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Petlock and their two children, Diane, 3, and a year-old baby. The name of the infant was not immediately known.

Police said the bodies of the two victims were found buried near a pile of potatoes and covered with weeds, earth and sacks.

The man's body was found in the farm kitchen and those of the two children in the bedroom.

Police said a .22 calibre rifle was believed used in the multiple slayings.

Hat Saves a Life

Studying the hard hat that turned out to be a life-saver yesterday for Earl Bruce is H. M. Jones, Malahat. Bruce was struck on the head by a large rock that crashed down a steep slope while he was fighting a forest fire near the Malahat summit. The aluminum broke the force of the blow.

GLORIA LOCKERMAN

Gloria Chooses $16,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve-year-old Gloria Lockerman, Baltimore's one-girl spelling bee, Tuesday night took the $16,000 she had won on a television quiz show and decided not to risk it for more.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Key, who made the decisions for Gloria on money questions, said "I think the Lord has been very, very good to Gloria, and I decided we would stop here."

Church Changes Name

EDMONTON (CP) — The Church of England in Canada Tuesday night officially became known as the Anglican Church.

The move was approved by both the upper and lower houses which met in joint session on the opening day of the general synod of the church.

Both houses voted down an amendment to have the name changed to the Episcopal Church of Canada.

Change of name of the Church of England emphasizes the Canadian aspect of the church, most Anglican clergymen in Victoria said last night.

Although a few said they would have preferred no change, majority agreed with Rev. Canon S. J. Wickens, who said: "We're all Canadians now."

He said he thought the "old guard, the conservative element" would have retained the English element, "but it seems the old generation is passing."

"I think it's a move to emphasize the fact the Church of England in Canada is not an immigrant church," said Rev. William Hills. "It's a national church, an autonomous church belonging to the Canadian people.

Mercy Flight In Vain

(Special To The Colonist)

CAMPBELL RIVER — Michello Peteczuk, about 34, of Steveston, died just before reaching Loudes hospital last night, several hours after an accident at Booth Logging Co. operations at Hayden bay, 32 miles northeast of here.

Peteczuk was severely crushed at 4 p.m. when a deck of lumber fell on him as he loaded a truck.

B.C. Airlines pilot Robert Croisdale flew Dr. B. J. Moloney to the camp. Peteczuk was still alive when the plane returned to Campbell River but he died in the ambulance en route to hospital.

RCMP will hold an inquest tomorrow.

Second Blaze Confined

Winds Fan Fire To Raging Peak

Forestry workers, soldiers and volunteer helpers last night were battling to control a three-day-old fire that has roared through 40 acres of thickly-wooded country at Metchosin. A second blaze, in the Malahat area, is being confined.

Strong 35-mile-an-hour winds yesterday fanned smouldering embers into a raging inferno after the Metchosin fire, which flared up Sunday from an unknown cause, was believed under control.

The weather office reported at midnight that the winds had dropped to 20 miles an hour and were not expected to increase to about 25 until later today.

The Metchosin outbreak is on the farm of Gavin Weir.

Flames jumped the CNR track near the property and raced to within a few feet of Quarantine road before being turned back by soot-grimed firefighters.

CAMP GUARDED

Army personnel from Esquimalt garrison were rushed to the scene early yesterday. Replacements for the dog-tired men were recalled from theatres and city streets by patrols last night.

Volunteer residents and service men made up the bulk of the force fighting the outbreak last night, relieving tired forestry department workers, some of whom had been at the scene for 48 hours.

MALAHAT BLAZE

Stan Jones of Sooke, cat skinner for Butler Bros. Logging Co., in charge of the crew of forest fire fighters at the Malahat, said yesterday he felt the fire was well under control.

The blaze has swept over about 25 acres on the steep slope of the mountain leading to Saanich inlet.

However, while the day was considered successful as far as halting the blaze, it was marred by the injury of 265-pound logger Earl Bruce, 43, of Sooke.

He suffered a head gash and fractured shoulder after he was struck by a large fire-loosened rock which plunged down the steep slope. He plunged 50 feet after being hit.

Fourteen men hauled him up the steep mountain to a waiting ambulance which took him to St. Joseph's Hospital here.

OFFICIALS WORRIED

The forestry department is now requiring daily reports from district rangers all over the province in order to keep a close check on developments.

They said there is no thought of a general closure at present but the situation "has us a little worried."

Prison Beatings Charged

OTTAWA (CP) — Penitentiary prisoners have told the Canadian Bar Association that prisoners awaiting trial in Toronto's Don jail are beaten unmercifully because they will not confess.

The charge was included in a submission made Tuesday by the editorial board of The Telescope, the Kingston, Ont., penitentiary's monthly magazine, to the association's criminal law section.

Puffing Pooch Passes But Punch Carries On

STAINFORTH, England (CP) —Mij, the dog domino champion of England, is dead.

The 10-year-old black Labrador, who invariably had a pipe dangling from her mouth, succumbed to pneumonia a few weeks before she and her son, Punch, where to appear on television.

Mij—Jim spelled backwards—was a truly talented animal with a number of tricks up her hairy sleeves.

She could solve simple mathematical problems, do card tricks, talk in her own way and beat all comers at a stick-picking game. She used to play dominos regularly with habitees of the district pubs, and in 1953 won the England dog domino championship against another canine wonder.

Mij died despite the use of oxygen equipment brought specially from Leeds, but Punch, 4, is showing signs of carrying on her work.

He can already play dominos "up to double three," indicate how old he is and joins in singing such ditties as "How much is that doggie in the window?" "Daddy won't buy me a bow-wow," and "Three blind mice."

'Going Too Far' — 'Type of Regimentation'

Little Official Support for Sartorial Students

A Halifax school board ruling that high school boys must wear collar, tie and jacket to classes, had few supporters in Victoria last night.

Frequently heard comments echoed by some Victoria school officials were: "I can't see any reason for it," and: "That's going a little too far."

But opinion here was far from unanimous, and many agreed that there was room for improvement in the way students dress.

Ald. Austin Curtis, a former school trustee, agrees with Halifax that a form of uniform dress would be "much better than some of the clothes worn to school by students," and is convinced that boys and girls coming to business men for jobs did not know how to dress.

"I don't think the people of Victoria are so hard up that they couldn't afford to dress their children in acceptable clothes," he said.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, chairman of the education committee of the school board, had this to say:

"Yes, I approve of uniformity of dress in both elementary and high schools. I believe it makes for less competition and therefore less discontent. The students can concentrate more on studies and less on fashions."

At the time she was asked for comment, Mrs. McGill was at a meeting of a mothers' group. She said she found "all 11 mothers present at the meeting in favor of dress uniformity."

Victoria schools inspector John Gough agreed with the majority of views in the survey, but said compulsory uniformity of dress is "beyond the power of the school board" and would "just raise a storm" if it was attempted.

"The economic standards of many walks of life couldn't support this type of regimentation," he said. "All we ask is that the student be respectably and cleanly dressed," which, he believes, is a parental responsibility.

As in Halifax, most school officials felt that girls should not wear slacks and jeans to school.

Britain Stands Fast

LONDON (CP) — Britain told Greece and Turkey Tuesday she intends to hold Cyprus as long as she has responsibility for defending the Middle East.

Diplomatic informants said this was the gist of a statement made by Britain's Harold Macmillan at a secret session of British, Greek and Turkish foreign ministers who are discussing the future of the east Mediterranean island. The informants included delegates who sat in on the talks.

In his speech, described as being conciliatory yet firm, Macmillan called on Stephen Stephenopolous of Greece and Fatin Rustu Zorlu of Turkey to seek a reconciliation of their attitudes on the Cyprus question.

The British foreign secretary said it is in the common interest of the three powers to work together if the Middle East is to be defended effectively against the possibility of external aggression and internal upheaval.

PARIS (Reuters)—France today will fly one of her toughest veterans of colonial wars into riot-racked Morocco to take over the post of resident-general vacated by Gilbert Grandval.

The choice, learned definitely Tuesday, is Gen. Pierre Boyer de la Tour, 59, resident-general in Tunisia, who 30 years ago, as a junior officer, led French soldiers in a Moroccan war to subdue rebellious Riff tribesmen.

As de la Tour said goodbye to the Bey of Tunis, the Paris government announced that France will mobilize another 180,000 servicemen in a buildup of defences in Morocco and adjoining Algeria, which was also rocked by a bloody rebellion 10 days ago.

Reinforcements were rushed into Casablanca Tuesday as new terrorist attacks and scattered acts of sabotage were reported.

In Rabat, terrorists set fire to a Moroccan house and two bodies were found in the charred ruins. At Port Lyautey, a pro-French truck driver was injured by a pistol shot.

RCMP in Saskatchewan Seek Man for Questioning

MELVILLE, SASK. (CP) — Five members of one family were found shot to death on a farm at Fenwood, 22 miles west of this eastern Saskatchewan town Tuesday.

RCMP said they were seeking a man for questioning in connection with the multiple slaying.

Police found the bullet-pierced bodies of two women in the farm yard. The bodies of a father and his two children were found in the farm home.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Harry Petlock, 70, a widow; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Petlock and their two children, Diane, 3, and a year-old baby. The name of the infant was not immediately known.

Police said the bodies of the two victims were found buried near a pile of potatoes and covered with weeds, earth and sacks.

The man's body was found in the farm kitchen and those of the two children in the bedroom.

Gloria Chooses $16,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Twelve-year-old Gloria Lockerman, Baltimore's one-girl spelling bee, Tuesday night took the $16,000 she had won on a television quiz show and decided not to risk it for more.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Key, who made the decisions for Gloria on money questions, said "I think the Lord has been very, very good to Gloria, and I decided we would stop here."

Church Changes Name

EDMONTON (CP) — The Church of England in Canada Tuesday night officially became known as the Anglican Church.

The move was approved by both the upper and lower houses which met in joint session on the opening day of the general synod of the church.

Both houses voted down an amendment to have the name changed to the Episcopal Church of Canada.

Change of name of the Church of England emphasizes the Canadian aspect of the church, most Anglican clergymen in Victoria said last night.

Although a few said they would have preferred no change, majority agreed with Rev. Canon S. J. Wickens, who said: "We're all Canadians now."

He said he thought the "old guard, the conservative element" would have retained the English element, "but it seems the old generation is passing."

"I think it's a move to emphasize the fact the Church of England in Canada is not an immigrant church," said Rev. William Hills. "It's a national church, an autonomous church belonging to the Canadian people."

Hat Saves a Life

Studying the hard hat that turned out to be a life-saver yesterday for Earl Bruce is H. M. Jones, Malahat. Bruce was struck on the head by a large rock that crashed down a steep slope while he was fighting a forest fire near the Malahat summit. The aluminum broke the force of the blow.

Second Blaze Confined

Winds Fan Fire To Raging Peak

Forestry workers, soldiers and volunteer helpers last night were battling to control a three-day-old fire that has roared through 40 acres of thickly-wooded country at Metchosin. A second blaze, in the Malahat area, is being confined.

Strong 35-mile-an-hour winds yesterday fanned smouldering embers into a raging inferno after the Metchosin fire, which flared up Sunday from an unknown cause, was believed under control.

The weather office reported at midnight that the winds had dropped to 20 miles an hour and were not expected to increase to about 25 until later today.

The Metchosin outbreak is on the farm of Gavin Weir.

Flames jumped the CNR track near the property and raced to within a few feet of Quarantine road before being turned back by soot-grimed firefighters.

Army personnel from Esquimalt garrison were rushed to the scene early yesterday. Replacements for the dog-tired men were recalled from theatres and city streets by patrols last night.

Volunteer residents and service men made up the bulk of the force fighting the outbreak last night, relieving tired forestry department workers, some of whom had been at the scene for 48 hours.

Stan Jones of Sooke, cat skinner for Butler Bros. Logging Co., in charge of the crew of forest fire fighters at the Malahat, said yesterday he felt the fire was well under control.

The blaze has swept over about 25 acres on the steep slope of the mountain leading to Saanich inlet.

However, while the day was considered successful as far as halting the blaze, it was marred by the injury of 265-pound logger Earl Bruce, 43, of Sooke.

He suffered a head gash and fractured shoulder after he was struck by a large fire-loosened rock which plunged down the steep slope. He plunged 50 feet after being hit.

Fourteen men hauled him up the steep mountain to a waiting ambulance which took him to St. Joseph's Hospital here.

The forestry department is now requiring daily reports from district rangers all over the province in order to keep a close check on developments.

They said there is no thought of a general closure at present but the situation "has us a little worried."

Prison Beatings Charged

OTTAWA (CP) — Penitentiary prisoners have told the Canadian Bar Association that prisoners awaiting trial in Toronto's Don jail are beaten unmercifully because they will not confess.

The charge was included in a submission made Tuesday by the editorial board of The Telescope, the Kingston, Ont., penitentiary's monthly magazine, to the association's criminal law section.

'Going Too Far'

'Type of Regimentation'

Little Official Support for Sartorial Students

A Halifax school board ruling that high school boys must wear collar, tie and jacket to classes, had few supporters in Victoria last night.

Frequently heard comments echoed by some Victoria school officials were: "I can't see any reason for it," and: "That's going a little too far."

But opinion here was far from unanimous, and many agreed that there was room for improvement in the way students dress.

Ald. Austin Curtis, a former school trustee, agrees with Halifax that a form of uniform dress would be "much better than some of the clothes worn to school by students," and is convinced that boys and girls coming to business men for jobs did not know how to dress.

"I don't think the people of Victoria are so hard up that they couldn't afford to dress their children in acceptable clothes," he said.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, chairman of the education committee of the school board, had this to say:

"Yes, I approve of uniformity of dress in both elementary and high schools. I believe it makes for less competition and therefore less discontent. The students can concentrate more on studies and less on fashions."

At the time she was asked for comment, Mrs. McGill was at a meeting of a mothers' group. She said she found "all 11 mothers present at the meeting in favor of dress uniformity."

Victoria schools inspector John Gough agreed with the majority of views in the survey, but said compulsory uniformity of dress is "beyond the power of the school board" and would "just raise a storm" if it was attempted.

"The economic standards of many walks of life couldn't support this type of regimentation," he said. "All we ask is that the student be respectably and cleanly dressed," which, he believes, is a parental responsibility.

As in Halifax, most school officials felt that girls should not wear slacks and jeans to school.
